First Casualties Return

A severe wound can't keep the smile off the lips of this stretcher-borne casualty being removed at Seattle, from a transport ship which brought first evacuees and wounded from Dutch Harbor since Japanese attacks on the Alaskan island outpost. Reports are that 35 persons were killed.

LATEST

Fires Still Burn In Raided Bremen

LONDON (CP)—Reconnaissance planes flying at great height over Bremen this afternoon observed fires still burning in that German port city. It was announced tonight. Bremen was the target of a 1,000-plane raid Thursday night.

Ontario Flier Killed

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—The names of the two R.C.A.F. fliers involved in Thursday's crash of a Tiger Moth training plane at nearby Hawkesville were released today by the commanding officer of the training school at Goderich, Ont. Sgt. Lorne Small of Stratford, Ont., was listed as killed and L.A.C. J. E. Joly of Montreal as injured.

AFTER CHURCHILL—A couple of British "scap hunters" are these members of the House of Commons, W. J. Brown, top, Independent, and Alec S. Cunningham-Reid, Conservative, signers of a new motion urging complete reorganization of the Churchill government and charging it with responsibility for the disaster of Tobruk.

Evacuate Natives Of Alaska Islands

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Evacuation of 550 natives from the Pribilof and from Atka island was reported in a dispatch released for publication by United States navy and army authorities this afternoon.

The evacuees were taken, under orders, to an old cannery at Funder Bay, Admiralty Island, and to an abandoned saltery at Killisnoo, in the Alexander Archipelago, both in southeastern Alaska. Most of them were from the Pribilof islands.

Chaloult Adjournment

MONTREAL (CP)—Judge C. E. Guerin today adjourned "pro forma" till June 29 the case of Rene Chaloult, Liberal member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Lotbiniere, appearing on a charge laid under the Defence of Canada Regulations after a public address he delivered here in May. His trial is expected to start July 6.

Power Speaks Plainly to Riding

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Minister Power said in the Commons this afternoon that if his Quebec South constituents wish a change of member because he is supporting the government's bill to provide opportunity for overseas conscription he will leave them "with friendship."

Back to Prison Camp

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Heinz Dominick, 18-year-old German prisoner of war, who escaped from the Fort Henry prisoner of war camp Wednesday afternoon, was recaptured and has been returned to the camp, the camp commandant announced today. The young Nazi had evidently stolen some clothes after he escaped and was wearing them when recaptured by Constable Robert Nesbitt of the Kingston city police.

Chinese Prepare Drive on Nancheng

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Chinese reported today, their assault forces had moved into position south of Nancheng for an attempt to storm the walls of the southeastern Kiangsi province town where the Japanese were halted in a drive toward the northern border of Fukien province.

Brisk fighting also was reported near Lishui, 125 miles south of Hangchow. The Japanese attack in this direction is aimed at the Lishui airbase, second best in Chekiang province. The latest loss at Chuhsien recently fell to the Japanese.

Russians Fall Back

Nazi Men, Tanks Hurlled at Reds With Heavy Loss

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—Against powerful Red army resistance, the German offensive in the Ukraine developed today into a reinforced major drive to the east with the Russians being forced back slowly by sheer weight of troops and tanks past Kupiansk and the Oskol River.

Dispatches from the front said that after abandoning Kupiansk, 60 miles southeast of Kharkov, the Russians repulsed a series of fierce assaults in which the Germans tried with tanks and planes to force a wedge into the defence line.

The Russians said that by falling back slowly they had been able to maintain a straight, unbroken front against the fury of the new onslaught.

INTENSIFY ATTACKS

"The Germans intensified their attacks," Tass reported, "and despite tremendous losses are pressing eastward."

"Our units slowly retire, offering strong resistance to the enemy."

In its account of the withdrawal from Kupiansk, where fighting was described as particularly heavy, the news agency said:

"The Fascist command concentrated considerable forces here, including several hundred tanks and a large number of aircraft, and attacked almost incessantly. Air combats were in progress continuously. Enemy tanks repeatedly attempted to pierce our defences and to strike at our troops from the rear."

"Our troops repulsed the attacks and checked the enemy onslaught. Then the German command began to rush up reserves. Fresh infantry units, tanks and air units were hurled into action. This enabled the enemy to increase his numerical superiority."

"Our units were compelled to retreat. A pitched battle developed at the approaches to Kupiansk, and then in the town itself. Fighting was prolonged and exceptionally heavy. Despite the enemy's considerable superiority, our troops selflessly defended the town and the approaches to it, and clung for a long time to every defence line."

GERMAN CLAIMS

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The German high command claimed today German and Rumanian troops in an encirclement manoeuvre southeast of Kharkov have captured 21,827 Russians, 100 tanks, 250 guns and quantities of other weapons. In the siege of Sevastopol, several fortified heights on the east were taken in hard fighting by German and Rumanian troops, the communique claimed.

BACK FROM NORTH—Among Dutch Harbor wounded to arrive at Seattle was Burt Browne, 20, aviation machinist, third class, carrying his arm in a sling. The bullet, which smashed his hand killed his buddy as they sought to take off in a flying boat while Jap planes attacked the Alaskan outpost.

Canadian-built Freighter Torpedoed Off West Coast

Seamen Who Survived West Coast Torpedoing

(Passed by Censor)

WEST COAST CANADIAN PORT—With not a man missing, or even hurt, a tired and tattered crew of dogged British seamen have arrived here after their Canadian-built merchant ship had been torpedoed "somewhere off the Pacific coast."

They brought with them only what they stood in; everything else was lost when they scrambled out of their bunks in the darkness and jumped into the lifeboats.

When the boats pushed off from the settling freighter the seamen believed their ship was doomed. Later, however, salvage ships succeeded in getting lines aboard the freighter and towed her to harbor.

Every seaman is sure it was a torpedo which struck their ship, although none saw it racing in.

"How do we know it was a torpedo?" one seaman asked. "Why, he shelled us. A mine couldn't shell us. Neither could an internal explosion. Besides, no mine ever made a noise like that torpedo did. The noise was awful."

"We know we're going to sea again, so we're not one bit worried," another seaman said. "If you're marked, you're marked and that's all there's to it. We got off without a penny or a spare bit of clothing but we're not downhearted."

At a sailors' club the seamen were greeted by men from other ships and were given clean coats to sleep in, showers and clean towels. A group of women fed them.

'Bunch of Blinkin' Tramps' They Say

As they walked up one of the main streets to a clothing store to get a new rig, one of the seamen said: "You'd think we was a bunch of blinkin' tramps alright. I don't wonder the blokes in this 'ere town stare at us so."

The local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society provided the men with their new outfits.

Some of the seamen think it was a German submarine that sank their ship.

"After the sub sighted us and fired a shell she waited an hour and a half to make sure we were all away before she torpedoed us," one seaman said. "No Jap would have done that. I'm sure it was Jerry."

All the men had a good word for their captain. After the boats had pulled away and they counted noses it was found two men were missing. The "old man" didn't call for volunteers to return to the ship but went back himself and located the two men, who were asleep in an after compartment, and hadn't heard the explosions.

"He's the bravest man I ever sailed with," said a seaman. After abandoning the ship the crew circled her in their lifeboats. Shortly after this a star shell broke over the scene, followed 20 minutes later by another shell.

Adrift 12 Hours But Sea Not Rough

"Daybreak came and luckily the sea wasn't rough," one of the seamen said.

After being adrift for 12 hours a Canadian ship hove in sight, caught the drifting men's signals and hove to. The seamen were rescued and a line put aboard the freighter, which had refused to sink. Later two tugs came along to help in the towing.

"Before they did, however, two of our boys went aboard again and put up the good old red ensign. It's there yet," one of the men said.

The rescue ship got a mascot as a reward for the rescue—a kitten which the crew took with them when they left the ship. It went to the rescue crew "as a memento and token of our appreciation."

These men wear all they saved when they were forced to abandon their ship after a Japanese submarine had shelled and torpedoed it. They were soon outfitted by the Canadian Red Cross at the West Coast Canadian Port at which they landed.

the earlier attack sank a United States merchantman off Neah Bay, Wash., and resulted in the death of a crewman from exposure.

Ottawa Announcement On Sinking Brief

The Ottawa announcement by the Royal Canadian Navy was brief and gave no details of the attack for security reasons. For the same reason there was no announcement of the place of attack.

Date of the attack, which caused some damage to the ship, also was not given.

Following is the text of the navy's statement: "A Canadian-built merchant ship of United Nations registry has been brought safely to one of Canada's west coast ports following a determined attack by a Japanese submarine."

"Although the vessel was damaged, none of her crew was seriously injured. No further details of this attack can be issued because of security reasons. For the same reason, the place of attack, which caused some damage to the ship, also was not given."

British Forces Await Rommel, 30 Miles Away

Associated Press

The main armored force of Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel had driven at least 100 miles into Egypt to confront the British 8th army today with a challenge to decisive battle, Cairo dispatches said.

The latest word from the desert was that the Germans and Italians, advancing despite strong resistance of British covering units, had not yet run into the principal British force, which is expected to make its stand somewhere before Matruh, 130 miles within Egypt.

The R.A.F. and the United States army air force, now an integral cog in the serial counter-offensive with which the British command hopes to curb Rommel's rush, struck Thursday night at the harbor of Tobruk, which only a few days ago was the anchor of British positions in Libya.

In London military experts estimated Rommel could throw approximately 100,000 men into an attempt to smash the British defence line before Matruh, on which the fate of Egypt and the entire Allied position in the Middle East may depend.

Must Hold Egypt To Hold Africa

The gravity of the situation in Egypt was emphasized by a former member of the war cabinet, who said in an interview:

"If Egypt goes our control of the Middle East and our chances of aiding Russia through Persia go with it. A defeat in Egypt would open the way for Axis control of Africa, Europe and Asia through possession of the eastern hemisphere's main crossroads."

An informed source in Cairo was quoted in London as saying the British position at Matruh represented a "last-ditch" stand.

"There is practically nothing else between that position and Alexandria and Cairo," he said grimly.

Military circles expected Rommel would waste no time in attacking, for his hopes of success hinge on a quick blow before the 8th army can be regrouped and re-equipped.

Enemy Column Moves Along Coast

The main Axis column is moving along the coast, in line with the railway which runs eastward from Matruh to Alexandria, 160 miles inland.

At least two lighter columns were reported driving eastward along parallel lines farther inland.

The swiftness of the Axis advance, impeded only by light rear-guard action, made it virtually certain the main bodies of the two opposing forces soon would be locked in a decisive battle.

British authorities apparently are pinning their hopes of victory largely on the geographical advantages of their defence line and on the possibility Rommel's lines of communication, now extended far across the desert, may not be equal to the occasion.

Dispatches from the front indicated the 8th Army still is a formidable fighting force and that it will be able to give a good account of itself.

Against this force Rommel was reported throwing into action every ounce of striking power at his disposal. This includes the German 21st and 15th armored divisions, the Italian Ariete ("Battering Ram") mechanized division and a supporting mass of motorized infantry.

He was reported to be filling up the gaps which were knocked in his equipment during the fighting in Libya by pressing into service recently-captured British and American-built tanks and trucks.

In his haste to strike swiftly and give the British commanders no chance to reorganize their forces, Rommel did not even take time to revamp this equipment, merely daubing swastikas on the sides of captured tanks before sending them into action.

Matruh is the western terminus of a railway which extends along the coast to Alexandria, approximately 160 miles to the east by air.

Salvage Attempt Costs 2 Lives

OTTAWA (CP)—Two members of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve lost their lives June 16 while assisting in the "attempted salvage" of a merchant ship, the navy announced today in its 90th casualty list of the war.

The dead are Lieut. John Molson Walkley of Halifax and Able Seaman Leslie Horne of Winnipeg.

No details of the attempted salvage were given by the navy, but one spokesman said the wording of the list apparently indicated the salvage operations were not successful.

New Controller

LONDON (CP)—Alexander Dunbar, director of Vickers Armstrong, today was appointed controller-general in the ministry of aircraft production, succeeding Sir Charles Craven, who resigned due to ill-health.

PRESIDENT OF ROTARY — Fernando Cabajal, of Lima, Peru, is elected president of Rotary International for 1942-43 at the convention in Toronto. His was the only nomination, and by instructions of the convention a ballot electing him was cast by the secretary. The veteran treasurer, Rufus J. Chapin, of Chicago, was re-elected treasurer, an office he has held since the founding of the organization.

Eyewitness Story Saw Tokyo Raid; Japs Terrorized Neutral Reports

ANKARA (AP)—An eyewitness to the United States air attack on Tokyo last April 18, who was in a Tokyo street when the raid was made, said today the Japanese were thrown into panic and depressed by the feeble defence.

The story was told by a national of a neutral country who has just arrived here.
"The daylight raid," he said, "was a complete surprise and shook the people's confidence as the government had boasted that American planes would never be seen over the capital."
"Tokyo's close-packed, highly-inflammable buildings were spared as the planes went on to bomb targets between the capital and Yokohama and other important industrial centres."

DAMAGE CONCEALED
He said foreigners were not permitted outside Tokyo to inspect the damage which, he said, apparently was heavy.
"I was on the street when the bombers came over," he related. "Sirens sounded and red warning flags and balloons went up. Many persons showed panic, rushing for cover."
"I heard no anti-aircraft guns. Japanese pursuit planes were out-distanced."

"Some Japanese commented on the superiority of the American aircraft. Japanese newspapermen, questioned why the Japanese could not locate where the planes came from and intercept them, replied they flew too fast and too high."

"The people insisted Japan was going to win the war, but I got the impression they were very much afraid of the United States. The press spoke of a long war and some people talked of it lasting 10 years."

SAW MANILA FALL
The traveler was in Manila when the Japanese entered the Philippine capital and went to Tokyo from there by air, ultimately reaching Turkey by rail via Manchukuo and Russia.

Of his observations in the Philippines, he said the invaders appeared nervous when they entered Manila and that there was considerable looting, even of the customs house. He lost trunks and books himself.

Within Manila, he added, he saw soldiers slap pedestrians for disregarding traffic lights and heard "reports that the situation was much worse in the country, where there were cases of violence and rape."

The first two days of the occupation foreigners were interned in hotels with almost nothing to eat, he said. Then neutrals were released and others, except elderly persons and those with small children, were sent to concentration camps.
"Ninety-nine per cent of the Filipinos are still with America," he said.

Students Relieve Labor Shortage

C. A. Mudge, manager of the Employment and Claims Office here, said the labor situation in Victoria had been somewhat relieved by student labor. All male students over 16 are required to register with an employment office as soon as their summer holidays begin.

Some students, Mr. Mudge said, have signed on with the shipyards and the more husky boys are working with construction firms. Mr. Mudge emphasized, however, there was still a great shortage of labor on the coast.

Meanwhile the tightening of labor regulations by requiring approval of each job by the employment office, has not slowed the business of the employment office, Mr. Mudge said.

Until more information is received from Ottawa regarding the interpretation of the new order-in-council, Mr. Mudge said employers could take on new help without permits so long as the employer submits an application within three days for the approval of the employment officer.

All positions, except the following, are restricted now: in agriculture, fishing, hunting and trapping; scientific and technical personnel in essential work; domestic servants in private homes; students after school hours and on holidays; part-time work; not the principal means of a livelihood; casual or irregular employment, not more than three days in any one week; and governmental services.

All glue used for aircraft in England now comes from bones saved in British kitchens.

Nazi Port Laid Waste by R.A.F.—R.C.A.F.

1,000 Canadian Airmen In Record Bremen Raid

By ALAN RANDAL
LONDON (CP)—Great fires were set by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Thursday night in the big German port city of Bremen, principal target of a devastating assault which probably was the largest in the history of aerial warfare.

Indications were that the number of planes participating exceeded the flights of 1,130 and 1,036 bombers which laid Cologne and Essen in ruins May 30 and June 1.

An Air Ministry communique told of one bomber force of "more than 1,000 planes," whose main target was Bremen, and reported intensive attacks on airfields in the Low Countries by "a second force of bombers and fighters."

This force was believed to have been numbered in the hundreds.

1,000 Canadians Share in Operations

It was understood approximately 1,000 Canadian airmen took part in the raid—about the same number as participated in the four-figure bombings of Cologne and Essen.

There were four squadrons of R.C.A.F. planes in the air, including an intruder squadron attacking airfields, and many other Canadians flew as crew members of R.A.F. craft.

Fifty-two planes are missing, the highest one-night loss experienced by the R.A.F. but informed sources said this was less than 5 per cent of those involved.

Three of the Canadian squadrons returned without a scratch.
Today the "day shift" swung into operation, R.A.F. fighter craft being reported active over the Channel area.

The Air Ministry in its communique declared Bremen was strewn with large fires.

Like the massive blows aimed at Cologne and Essen, the Bremen raid was aimed at a vital arsenal supplying war tools to Hitler.

By centring on Bremen, the R.A.F. was adhering to a policy of making "priority targets" of U-boats, especially U-boats under construction. In the period since the Essen-Cologne raids, smaller squadrons—presumably of several hundred planes—four times have smashed at Emden, a U-boat base 70 miles northwest of Bremen.

It was the second time this month that Bremen was singled out for the R.A.F.'s fire bath.

Bombardiers Given Plenty of Targets

Besides being Germany's second largest port, with a population of almost 500,000, Bremen offered targets in abundance—along with shipbuilding yards and one of Germany's biggest submarine construction works. It has docks, railways, steel-works, oil refineries and the Pocke-Wulf factory and airbase where the Nazis get fighters and great, long-range bombers.

The Air Ministry communique said:

"Last night very large forces of our aircraft drawn from all the home operational commands of the R.A.F. were in operation."

"The bombing force consisted of more than 1,000 aircraft and its main objective was Bremen."

"Large fires were seen but a considerable amount of heavy cloud made accurate observation of results very difficult."

"To disorganize the enemy defences many airfields in the Low Countries were subjected to intensive harassment attacks by a second force of bombers and fighters."

"In the course of these intruder operations and in the many combats, which took place between our bombers and enemy fighters, some enemy aircraft were damaged or destroyed."

Nazi Night-hawks In Fierce Defence

Bremen was said to have been defended fiercely by night fighter planes and anti-aircraft fire against this, the 95th and heaviest air bombardment of the city, which is Germany's second largest port.

The Canadian share in the latest smash was given to news papermen from intelligence reports, the R.C.A.F. stations themselves being closed to reporters to give the boys a "break" after the big raid.

In addition to successfully bombing the targets, members of the all-Canadian "Moose" squadron under Wing Cmdr. John (Moose) Fulton—of Kamloops, B.C., bagged a Nazi fighter which attempted to intercept the Canadians on their return journey.

WING COM. J. FULTON

This is the second such "kill" in two weeks for a gunner of this squadron, which has a moose head as its insignia. It was credited to Sgt. Don Morrison, 30-year-old Sherbrooke, Que., rear-gunner returning from his 28th operational flight in a Wellington bomber skippered by Sqdn. Ldr. D. L. Wolfe of Regina.

It was Morrison's first chance to use his guns on an enemy plane, and the entire crew saw

U.S. Munitions Production Soars

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that the United States' mighty war effort, in the single month of May, had turned out nearly 4,000 planes and more than 1,500 tanks.

Releasing official war production figures for the first time since Pearl Harbor, the President asserted in a statement that the United States also turned out nearly 2,000 artillery and anti-tank guns in May, and these were exclusive of anti-aircraft guns and those to be mounted in tanks.

50,000 WEAPONS

The May output of machine guns exceeded 50,000 weapons of all types, including infantry, aircraft and anti-aircraft. If sub-machine guns are added on, the total passes 100,000.

Mr. Roosevelt released these figures because, he said, they are going to give the Axis "just the opposite of 'aid and comfort.'"

"We are well on our way," he declared, "towards achieving the rate of production which will bring us to our goals."

The last announced objectives of the war production program, told in the President's annual message to Congress last January, were 185,000 planes in 1942 and 1943, 120,000 tanks, 55,000 anti-aircraft guns.

Unified Command For Allies Seen

By NOLAN NORGARD
LONDON (AP)—Quick creation of a unified command to weld British, Canadian and United States forces into a co-ordinated fighting team for a blow against the European continent was predicted today in qualified quarters.

To these observers, the arrival of Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as commander in the European theatre of operations for American forces, meant one thing:

The stage of preliminary planning has passed to a phase of active preparation for using the powerful armies assembled in Britain.

Some said the new commander's name was a significant symbol for "Eisenhower" in German means "iron beater."

the flaming ME-110 dive into the sea.

"I saw it when it was about 150 yards from our rear," related Morrison. "As it came in on our port side he fired a burst and turned away. Then the skipper swerved and the fighter was a beautiful target as it went over my turret. I let him have it right in the belly. His port engine caught fire, then his wing."

"I actually saw ripples made by the aircraft when it sank."

Others of this crew were: F.O. John McCormack of Estevan, Sask., and Flt. Sgt. R. Goodwin of Niagara Falls, Ont.

"The Moose" himself was attacked three times while en route home, but managed to elude Nazi fighters and, said his gunner, P.O. Jock Campbell, "Jerry did not even get a chance to take a pot shot."

Fulton reported several large fires burning but visibility was not good enough to distinguish clearly. His crew included gunners, Flt. Sgt. J. O'Brien of Quebec and Flt. Lt. Bob O'Callaghan of Calgary.

French-Canadian Squadron Planned

Sqdn. Leader Joseph St. Pierre of Montreal, won to command a new French-Canadian squadron, carried a huge bomb to his target and saw a terrific explosion flash.

Flying in St. Pierre's formation were: P.O. Jerry Bell, Victoria; Flt. Sgts. W. G. Weeks, Medicine Hat, Alta., and R. J. Hubbard, Truxton, Sask.

A Wellington captained by Sgt. B. Pearson of Toronto spotted a dinghy in the North Sea while returning home and reported its position to rescue headquarters.

P.O. Barney Cowell of Edmonton dispatched the message. Other crew members were: P.O. Lloyd Parnell, Peterborough, Ont.; Sgt. Frank Williams, Saskatoon; Flt. Sgt. Leonard Maxim, Niagara Falls, Ont., all of whom said they were unable to distinguish the number of dinghy occupants, though they dropped as low as 300 feet.

Reds Say Jap U-Boat Attacks Soviet Ship

Associated Press
Smouldering friction between Russia and Japan was fanned anew today as Moscow bluntly challenged Tokyo's claim that a United States submarine had torpedoed a Soviet merchant ship, and pinned the attack on a Japanese undersea raider.

The Soviet radio quoted survivors as saying two Japanese submarines surfaced immediately after the 4,761-ton Ss. Angarskoi was sunk 32 miles off the Japanese coast May 1.

Japan had charged the sinking was an American attempt "to create friction between the Soviet Union and Japan. . . Obviously timed for provoking trouble."

"This version does not coincide with the facts," the Russian broadcast said.

ATTACKED THREE TIMES

Crewmen of a Russian freighter at Sydney, Australia, said they were attacked three times recently by a submarine believed to be Japanese.

Although formally bound by a neutrality and friendship pact, Russia and Japan have several times warned each other against such provocative "incidents" which might lead to hostilities on a new front in the global war.

Meanwhile, Japan sought to cover up the humiliating defeat in the battle of Midway by sending a message to Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, commander-in-chief of the combined Japanese fleet, lauding "brilliant successes" over a vast area of the eastern Pacific Ocean since June 4, despite stormy weather.

June 4 marked the start of the battle of Midway and the Japanese thrust into the Aleutian Islands.

GENERAL NOT NAMED

A similar message was sent to the supreme commander of Japanese ground forces in the eastern Pacific, whose name was not disclosed.

The silence of the latter's identity was significant because the message evidently applied to the Japanese invasion of the Aleutians, and it is Japan's invariable rule to keep secret the names of commanders in specific zones until their operations are successful.

Mackenzie King Returns

United Nations At New Strength

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King returned today from his conferences with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in Washington and expressed renewed confidence in the power of the United Nations to win the war.

"What setbacks we are having now are significant mainly in that they make the difference whether victory will come sooner or later," he said.

"There is no question about us facing a critical situation," said Mr. King, "but we have faced critical situations before in this war when we were not in the position we are now."

"Never since the war started has the strength of the United Nations been so powerful and well organized as at the present time."

While the situation was bad on one front, it had eased on others and the whole picture of the war should be studied at the same time to arrive at any conclusions.

Mr. King spent Thursday in conference with Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill, and saw high officers of the other United Nations powers, as well as attending a special meeting of the Pacific Council.

All his deliberations in Washington were so secret, the Prime Minister said, that it would be impossible to give the House of Commons any more information than has appeared in the press. Mr. King left Ottawa Wednesday morning, his departure kept secret on instructions of United States government officials, to accept an invitation from Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill to join them at Thursday's conferences.

Italian Claims

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts, AP)—The Italian high command claimed today Italian motor torpedo-boats operating in the Black Sea have sunk three Russian submarines, a 15,000-ton steamship loaded with munitions and another supply vessel of 5,000 tons.

Churchill Unable To Visit Ottawa

WASHINGTON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill will not be able to visit Canada during his present trip.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King invited Mr. Churchill to go to Ottawa a few hours after the arrival of the British leader in Washington a week ago, but because of pressure of business here and the brevity of his trip, Mr. Churchill could not accept. "He sent his warm greetings through me to the Canadian people and to my colleagues in Ottawa," Mr. King declared. The Canadian Prime Minister, who attended the special meeting of the Pacific war council, Thursday, said he found Mr. Churchill looking "extraordinarily well."

"I was surprised to find how well he looks, and he is in excellent spirits."

"The same thing is true of President Roosevelt. In fact, I think they both are looking better than when Mr. Churchill was here last January."

M.P. Suggests More Soldiers' Pay

OTTAWA (CP)—A suggestion that the minimum rate of pay for Canadian soldiers be increased to $50 a month was made in the House of Commons Thursday by Arthur Slaght, Liberal, Parry Sound, Ont., and was applauded by members of all parties.

He commented on the recent action of the United States Congress fixing a $50 monthly minimum for American soldiers and added: "We ought to put the same legislation on our statute books at once."

If this could not be done, he said, the difference between the present minimum rate of pay and $50 should accumulate and be paid the soldier at the end of the war.

There are more than 665,000 buildings in New York City.

'Cooling Period' Urged After War

TORONTO (CP)—Peace plans should be formulated during the war, but when the conflict is over drafting of treaties should be deferred until wartime emotions have cooled off, Hugh Gibson, former United States diplomat, told 8,000 delegates attending the closing session of Rotary International's 33rd annual convention here.

Mr. Gibson, one-time U.S. ambassador to Belgium and Brazil, addressed the convention at a session featured by the presentation of Rotary's new president, Fernando Carbajal of Lima, Peru, the election of vice-presidents and the board of directors and a radio message from Lt. Col. Carlos Romulo, a Rotarian on the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of the United Nations in the southwest Pacific.

The new vice-presidents, selected by the board of directors, are J. Raymond Tiffany of Hoboken, N.J., 1st vice-president; C. J. Steigler of Zurich, Switzerland, 2nd vice-president, and Armando Hammel of Santiago, Chile, 3rd vice-president.

PEOPLES PEACE
Mr. Gibson urged consideration of peace plans now primarily because intelligent and informed public opinion will be needed before any plans can be successful. "It will be a people's peace, as it is a people's war, and he held there must be complete understanding of the problems of peace making and support for the governments undertaking the job."

"In addition there is the possibility that if we develop constructive plans for peace they might even help bring the war to an earlier, victorious end," he said. "For we must never lose sight of the fact that there are great masses of people in the enemy countries who have no stomach for this war; who are kept at it under the lash of dictatorship and under the threat that they have nothing to hope from the peace and might as well go on to the final decision of arms."

Income Tax Deductions

OTTAWA (CP)—Payments to group medical and hospital plans and medical co-operative schemes will not be regarded as eligible deductions from income in computing new taxes, Finance Department officials here point out.

Deduction is allowed under the new budget for medical expenses in excess of 5 per cent of the taxpayer's income paid to "any qualified medical practitioner, dentist or nurse... or public or provincial licensed private hospital" for any birth in the family, illness or operation.

The deduction is limited to $400 for a single person, $600 for married person and $100 for each additional dependent, not exceeding four.

THIS SAFER, NEW OXYDOL WAY

Wash WHITE WITHOUT BLEACHING
Wash CLEAN WITHOUT HARD RUBBING

Avoid harmful washday wear and tear... avoid risk of weakening fabrics... and get the whitest wash ever with New Oxydol—now much richer in washing power.

In wartime, when your clothes are doubly precious, wash the safer way—with the New OXYDOL—the last word in modern laundry soap.

Rich Washing Action Instead of Harsh Bleaching

Every ounce of New Oxydol is much richer in washing power than before. Its active, bustling "Hustle-Bubble" suds draw out dirt the gentle, safe way. With its rich, lively washing action, you get the whitest wash any soap will give. Except for stains or unusual pieces, of course, your wash is radiantly white—and without the risk of harsh bleaches.

Lively Sudsing Saves Harmful Rubbing

New "Hustle-Bubble" suds work much harder than before. Every ounce gets out more dirt. You never have more than a few quick rubs here and there. Not that hard rubbing that wears things thin and threadbare so quickly.

With all this new richness in washing power, the New Oxydol is safety itself for washable colours. Even milder than before on hands. So safe you can use it for dairy washable rags. So imagine how kind New OXYDOL is to the rest of your wash!

Islands Nurses Reach England

LONDON (CP)—At various camps throughout Britain thousands of Canadian soldiers for upwards of 20 units were settling down to their new lives today, having arrived at a British port Thursday after an uneventful voyage from the Dominion.

They crossed the Atlantic in a large troop convoy, escorted by U.S. warships, and reported no incidents on the way over. With the Canadians were also British and Honduras technicians and members of the Royal Netherlands army, who had been training in Canada.

Rear-Admiral Sir Arthur Bromley welcomed the arrivals on behalf of the Dominions Office and officials of the British fire-fighting service greeted the firemen, first large contingent to arrive.

Some were coming to Britain for the first time. Others were here in the first Great War, while a few were returning for the second time in this war.

All wanted to know immediately how the battle in Libya was progressing and expressed the hope that the fall of Tobruk would not delay the opening of a second front on the continent.

As one gunner put it, "France is the place we want to go, and soon!"

Two Vancouver Island girls were among a group of nursing sisters in the contingent. They were Ruth Wilson of Victoria and Margaret Wallbank of Nanaimo.

Offers to Produce All Rubber U.S. Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. William J. Hale, head of a chemistry firm, testified before a House of Representatives mining subcommittee he could produce all the rubber the United States needs in a year if given $100,000,000 men and priorities.

The former organic chemistry professor at the University of Michigan, now consultant to the Dow Chemical Company and president of the National Agrol Company, Washington, said he would set up about 100 plants, with two in each state each turning out 45,000 pounds of butadiene daily from certain types of corn.

Another $150,000,000 would be required by the rubber industry to obtain the rubber from the butadiene, he said, adding that his synthetic product would make tires superior to those now in use.

How Sugar Crop Was Saved in Ontario

From St. Mary's, Ont., Journal-Argus.

Just now a big race is on among sugar beet growers of Western Ontario. It is a race to handle their crop before it is too late. The quick-growing weather of the past few weeks with heavy rains have brought the beets along quicker than expected.

Weather has been too wet for thinning and hoeing. And so with the present shortness of help, the need for getting this work done within the next week or so, has seemed almost an impossible proposition. To lose this season's crop would be bad for the growers, it would be bad, too, for Canada, which is short of sugar which we need for munitions, explosives and the ordinary household uses. Last week the sinking of one merchantman from Havana, with 3,899 tons of the product aboard, meant the loss of many thousands of acres of raw sugar. If half a dozen such boats were sunk, the loss would equal the entire Canadian crop.

Beet sugar growing is a new industry around here, but there are some 200 acres around Grantham. Even this amount of crop means a lot of handling. The hoeing and thinning brings remuneration of $10 an acre to laborers, which means fine pay if you are good, a lot less if you are green help.

An S.O.S. came recently to Mayor White for help to save the sugar crop. It was delivered in person to Keith Riddell, Middlesex's agricultural representative, and G. A. Neil, the beet growers' field man. Within an hour, Mayor White had got together a group of various service clubs' representatives at the town hall when the situation was explained to them. It was decided to hold an organization meeting at night.

There were about 40 citizens present at the meeting. At the suggestion of the chairman, it was decided to effect a permanent organization in the town to arrange for help in the present crop crisis and on future occasions if a similar situation arose. The organization will be known as the "Save the Crop Club."

At 1.30 Wednesday about 73 workers, of whom 32 were business and professional men of the town and another 41 school pupils, were at the town hall and they were quickly conveyed by trucks to the farms.

Lt.-Col. Morrissey Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—Lt. Col. H. F. Morrissey, officer commanding the 3rd New Brunswick Coast Brigade, Reserve, R.C.A., died in a hospital here Thursday. He had been ill for several days. Col. Morrissey was also district engineer at Saint John, N.B., for the Department of Transport.

In parts of Europe, bread is made from chestnuts.

Eton Playing Fields

LONDON (CP)—A peer and a member of Parliament, speaking in different cities, have reached the same conclusion:

"That if Germany's north African commander, Erwin Rommel, had started out as a private in the British army as he did in the German he now might possibly have worked up to the rank of sergeant rather than field marshal."

Lord Strabolgi, Labor peer, made the assertion in Oxford; Alfred Edwards, Labor M.P., said it in Leeds.

Paraphrasing the Duke of Wellington, Mr. Edwards added that the Battle of Libya "was lost in the playing fields of Eton."

British tank divisions were directed by cavalry officers, he said, and some of them until recently "even insisted on wearing their spurs."

Government Candidate Beaten By Columnist

LONDON (CP)—Tom Driberg, Independent, today won the Maldon parliamentary by-election with a plurality of nearly 6,000 votes over R. J. Hunt, the government candidate.

Mr. Driberg is a widely-known columnist in the Daily Express, who writes under the name of William Hickey. He received 12,219 votes to 6,226 for Mr. Hunt, who ran as a Conservative. Borlase Matthews, Independent, polled 1,476.

The vacancy was caused by death of Col. Sir Edward Ruggles-Brise, Conservative. The total vote was small in comparison with that cast in the last general election, in 1935, when Sir Edward polled 17,072 votes to 9,264 for W. F. Toynbee, Labor, and 5,680 for Miss H. Buckmaster, Liberal.

Maldon represented the fourth defeat for a government candidate in a recent group of seven by-elections. The others were at Grantham, Wallasey and Rugby.

The Raiding Thousands

GERMANY'S SECOND LARGEST PORT and vitally important industrial city of Bremen is trying to sort itself out today after the most destructive bombardment to which the Royal Air Force has subjected it since the war began—and it was its 95th visit from our incomparable flying men. More than a thousand planes took part in the raid and 52 of them failed to return to their bases; but the expense, the greatest so far in a single foray, is well below the figure considered too costly.

No doubt the price will be regarded as cheap when placed side by side with the damage wrought to "priority targets" of U-boat and Focke-Wulf airplane industries. This is smashing the Nazi war machine at its source with a vengeance; and Bremen's 500,000 population may henceforward recall Mr. Churchill's general warning of a few weeks ago: If German workers desire to escape the treatment Goering's Luftwaffe has meted out to so many of Britain's cities, it is still their privilege to leave the factories and view the accomplishments of the R.A.F. from a safe distance.

Perhaps at this late stage even Hitler has begun to realize that British promises are being fulfilled with the same meticulous thoroughness as that with which he has broken every one he has made since he became Chancellor of the Reich nine years ago. After the raid of more than a thousand planes on Cologne, at the beginning of the month, the Fuehrer and the German people were told that that mass attack was merely an indication, a herald, of what was in store for the Reich as the months passed. Essen felt the effects of its duplication almost immediately afterward.

The people of Bremen must now be realizing that the program of the Royal Air Force is still in its testing stage; if they have any imagination at all, they ought to know that one of these bright summer mornings three or four, perhaps half a dozen, large industrial cities of the Reich may be simultaneously trying to do what they are doing today. Why? Because the bombing planes the United States continues to send across the Atlantic are not being accumulated for exhibition purposes. It may not be long before the first great all-American raid over Germany is written into the history of the rapidly-accelerating war in the air. Bombing Britain's cathedral cities in reprisal will be poor consolation for Hitler.

Doing a Fine Job

HATS OFF TO THE TENS OF THOUSANDS of Canadian women volunteers who responded to the call for the preparation of the temporary sugar ration cards! They are rendering a national service which should be fully recognized. The women of the Dominion had no advance information that they would be so called upon to lend a hand in this important realm of endeavor. It entailed the immediate and specific organization of all their groups, and they mustered their forces with lightning speed and remarkable ability at the most inconvenient time of the year for them—with clubs in recess for the summer and many taking a well-earned holiday from their normal round of household labors.

Cross-Canada reports, moreover, indicate that these willing women workers have done a remarkable job of mobilizing themselves for the task in the 106 centres where the information will be transferred from the application cards to the ration cards. The eager way in which thousands of women have offered their services, the way in which the supervisors and their committees have organized their centres, is something of which this country can well be proud. So much of women's organizing ability and co-operative genius is revealed only to themselves in their own organizations, that this task has demonstrated to the country as a whole the fact that they can measure up to an emergency with dispatch and ability and skill.

Maldon and Tobruk

IT WILL NOT BE SURPRISING IF SOME of the more caustic critics of Mr. Churchill attach a trifle too much importance to the trend of by-elections in Britain. But, by the same token, it would be foolish for the Prime Minister and his colleagues to regard reverses in four out of seven recent contests as of little or no significance. Yesterday's triumph of an Independent over the Conservative candidate and another Independent in the Maldon division of Essex probably surprised the victor as much as it must have disappointed the ministry. Mr. Tom Driberg, known far and wide for his column in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express as "William Hickey," ran up a total of 12,219 against the government-sponsored Conservative candidate's 6,226, and the other Independent's 1,476. In the general election of 1935, Tory Colonel Sir Edward Ruggles-Brise—whose death caused the vacancy—polled 17,072 votes against Labor's standard-bearer's 9,264 and the Liberal Party's Miss H. Buckmaster's 5,680.

Only twice this century has Maldon returned other than a Conservative representa-tative. The exceptions were in the great Tariff Reform election of 1906, when the country swept the Liberals into power under the leadership of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and in the election of 1923, which gave Labor its first opportunity to form a government. The Liberal majority 36 years ago was 149, and 17 years later the Laborite won with a margin of only 49. The late Sir James F. Flannery and Colonel Sir Edward Ruggles-Brise divided the Conservative representation, with the exceptions already mentioned, from 1900 until the latter's death a short time ago. In other words, the defeat of the government's nominee yesterday in a seat so traditionally Conservative transcends in its importance and significance to Mr. Churchill and his coalition colleagues the reverses sustained in the by-elections in Grantham, Wallasey and Rugby. In all of these constituencies the main issue discussed on the hustings was the government's conduct of the war and, to some extent, at least, the Prime Minister's policy of trying to do too much himself. In each instance, moreover, the demand for more offensive action by the United Nations was a potent factor, despite the enormous considerations involved in the "second front" argument.

Maldon's return of a journalist, incidentally, calls to mind the striking victory which Mr. Vernon Bartlett—diplomatic correspondent of the London News-Chronicle and for many years a representative of The Times of London in various European capitals—scored in the Bridgwater division of Somerset in November, 1938. He conducted his campaign as an Independent, as a bitter opponent of Munich and of the foreign policies of the Chamberlain government in general, and, like Mr. Driberg, upset all political calculations by his successful invasion of one of the strongholds of British Conservatism. But for its critics to suggest that this latest by-election development means the early downfall of the Churchill government would be to indulge in wishful thinking. Just as the fall of Tobruk no doubt had a good deal to do with it, so will a change in the fortunes of war probably discourage anything beyond a new demand for cabinet reorganization, and, perhaps, a change of the Prime Minister's personal technique.

Exchanging Information

UNTIL THE MOLOTOV VISIT TO LONDON and Washington the authorities in Moscow had shown a rigid disinclination to permit military observers of the United Nations to go to the eastern front to see for themselves the ebb and flow of the battles there. A dispatch from the Soviet capital yesterday, however, disclosed that Lieut.-Col. Joseph A. Michela, United States military attaché, had just completed a trip to the elongated line where the Wehrmacht is trying desperately to do what it failed to do in the first year of the Russo-German conflict. With Colonel Michela were two British officers, the former declaring that he was "highly impressed" and had "learned lessons which will be helpful to our troops," adding also that "I can honestly say since I have been to the front I have an even higher opinion of the Red Army."

One of the objects of closer collaboration between Britain and the United States and the Soviet Union, of course, was a full and complete exchange of military and other information on which a good deal often depends. All grounds for complaint of the Russians' failure to show their Allies the Red Army in action would now appear to have been completely removed. It is well to remember, nevertheless, that although some of the secrets of Soviet strategy, the Russian army's uncanny knack of fighting extraordinarily successful retreating actions over long periods, may still remain undivulged, the world has learned by the impact of events during the last year what none of the so-called military experts had ever expected to learn—what has surprised Hitler and his Axis partners more than anything else since Goering's Luftwaffe came to grief in the Battle of Britain. But the recent understandings reached by Mr. Molotov on his visits to London and Washington obviously will be of incalculable value to the United Nations, not only as the conflict enters its final stage, but also when the world emerges into brighter days.

"Hitler's promise not to use gas," says the voice of the Berlin radio, "is as good as ever." Like the money-back guarantee with a parachute.

NO CONSCRIPTION

From Toronto Saturday Night
There is a surprising lack of fervor in the denunciations of Mr. King for his frank declaration that, no matter what happens to the limiting section of the National Resources Mobilization Act, he will not now and perhaps will never put overseas conscription into effect. Considering the ardor with which it has been represented (1) that overseas conscription is militarily necessary, (2) that the plebiscite constitutes an instruction from the voters to apply overseas conscription, and (3) that the lack of overseas conscription is impairing Canada's status among the belligerent nations, and considering also that Mr. King was rather generally expected to do something about overseas conscription, the present mildness is hard to explain.

It can be explained to some extent by one very important consideration. It now looks as if Mr. King would be able to get to the end of the war without having to invite any other party to help him to maintain his government, and without having to constitute a nonparty government. The pressure for conscription arose, and lasted, at a time when there seemed to be some ground for expecting that a nonparty government would be necessitated by the defection of the solid French-Canadian bloc. There is now, we judge, no such expectation.

FLOP

AT THIS WRITING I do not understand Mr. Isley's new budget. You see, on an occasion of this sort, how inadequate a thing the radio is. It can give no true picture of the budget. It can only mutter a few figures which every listener instantly forgets, so that I dare say not one Canadian taxpayer knew at the end of an evening's broadcasting how much Mr. Isley was going to spend and how much he was going to collect. The radio is satisfactory for sudden news, what we call in this trade spot news. It is all right for speeches on general ideas. When it comes to something complicated and important the radio is a flop. A budget like this must be set down on paper so that you can read it at leisure. I doubt that many Canadians will do so.

The instinct of the taxpayer is, rather, to look away from the grisly shape of the budget, to hide under the bed clothes until the tax collector appears at the foot of the bed with outstretched hand and cold stare. But what surprises me is the surprise at the new taxes and compulsory loans. Why should anyone be surprised?

ONLY BEGINNING

Not many people read this column, I suppose, but the few who do are not in the least surprised at the budget. Not that I know anything about figures or finance or have any access to the deliberations of that excellent public servant, Mr. Isley; it is, on the contrary, because I am so ignorant of larger figures that I, and simple-minded people like me, can add up two and two and make four, without algebra or logarithms and, in our dumb way perceive the obvious facts which are lost to those with more complicated mental apparatus.

That is why, thrusting into the dark as it were, I have been saying here for months that we had not begun to pay for the war, nor feel the war, nor face the ultimate necessities of the war. At times, I realize, these dire predictions must have looked foolish. Where this department has contended that goods were getting scarce, that we must all use less, that we must all become poor, there were on every hand signs of just the opposite, large visible supplies of every kind of goods, the appearance of universal prosperity, people with more money than ever before, and a living standard throughout Canada never reached previously. It was hard for most people to believe that in all this they were looking at a fragile shell; that the shelves of the stores might be full but the factories and warehouses were becoming empty.

CURIOUS METHOD

That is all the budget means, of course. It is a vast complication of figures. It represents a cumbersome process of governing our habits of life through the collection of a vast thing called money out of our pockets. But in reality it is nothing more than a new pattern of living. That pattern could be imposed by direct regulation, by ordering us to work in a certain place, at a certain job, to produce certain things and to consume certain things and in certain quantities.

Instead, the same result is accomplished by taking from us symbols called money and thus preventing us from demanding so many goods because the goods are not available. The budget, in brief, is simply a polite way of ordering thousands of Canadians out of peacetime jobs into wartime jobs: a complicated but acceptable way of increasing war production and decreasing civilian production.

It comes just in time. Few other nations are meeting these needs adequately. The largest nation in the world, our neighbor, has not met them and is not moving to meet them but, on the contrary, is sinking rapidly into inflation. Surely, therefore, there is something encouraging for Canadians in the fact that they have the courage to face up to this thing in an honest, orderly fashion; that they have the intelligence to understand that the alternative is worse.

EITHER WAY

The alternative, of course, is quite obvious. Since the goods are not available, since we must live frugally because of a lack of physical means to do anything else, we can do it either by handing over our purchasing power to the government as a loan; so that we can have it returned and spend it after the war; or we can all rush out and spend our money and bid up the price of the scarce goods until the price is too high for us to pay. Then we would stop buying. Either way, the physical result is the same—poverty for us. But Mr. Isley's way may be more to distribute the poverty more fairly than by the inflationary way which hits the poor man hardest and the rich man least, and we may hope to avoid the economic chaos, the class warfare, industrial upheaval and general catastrophe which inflation always involves and which would probably ruin our war effort.

Meanwhile we shall all have substantial savings by the time the war is over, if it lasts long. We should not need and probably do not need such encouragement, but it will not hurt us to remember that any of our savings will not be worth a nickel if we don't win the war. In that case we shall remain poor for the rest of our lifetime, trying to pay for the defences of a besieged North America.

Parallel Thoughts

For the poor shall never cease out of the land: therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy, in thy land.—Deuteronomy 15:11.
He travels safe and not unpleasantly who is guarded by poverty and guided by love.—Sir P. Sidney.

Help in the Garden

By JOHN STAINER, B.A., F.R.E.S.

My garden lies over three miles from the nearest beehive. Throughout the season the honey-bee, reputed to be such a restless visitor, is a rare wanderer, unable to pollinate more than a few solitary blossoms, and yet every year flowers and weeds go to seed, and fruit trees produce their increase. From the time that the pussy-willow flowers along the shore, and the early plum bursts into a mass of white, there is a continual hum through the garden, but not of honey-bees. Burly bumble-bees hum from tree to tree, wheeling violently around every intruder, gathering honey and pollen for their nests along the side of the wood; queen wasps and bluebottles drink to their heart's content; and later the humming birds hover in a patch of scarlet at the blossom, but none of them in sufficient numbers to account for the successful fertilization of every bloom. As for the few butterflies, flies and moths about in April, they slip lazily at one, or perhaps two blooms, seldom worrying to move; and a swallow-tail butterfly, who hatched long before his season this year, had not even the sense to find the right way into a daffodil. Undoubtedly, the real work of pollination is done by those neglected insects, the solitary bees, which are abundant everywhere on this continent, and yet are scarcely recognized by the gardeners and farmers who owe most to them.

On Vancouver Island the first bees appear in March, sometimes even in February, ready to fer-utilize the pussy-willows and the earliest dandelions. As each new flower opens its buds they are there to gather the nectar, and even the chrysanthemums and Michaelmas daisies receive a hungry crowd until they die with the frost. It does not seem to matter whether the flowers are as open as the peach blossom against the house, or tubular and reputedly fitted only for long-tongued bees. There is usually some species small enough to penetrate the narrowest flower, and only the clover, the honeysuckle, and the sweet-scented tobacco plant seem to require the aid of the good-natured bumble-bee. Many of the bees, though, are very particular as to which flowers they shall visit. Some species even confine their activities to the blossoms of one flower alone, while others appear to make their choice by color. When the early plum is still in blossom, or other white-flowered trees have come into bloom, my two peach trees are usually neglected, but when, for a few days, pink blossoms only are available, they are crowded with visitors. I fancy that all their normal requirements here are met by the humming-birds, who invariably bring them. There are some plants which have a peculiar attraction for solitary bees. The earliest blossoms are always frequented, for in March food is too valuable to scorn; but when the season is advanced golden-rod and cow parsley are particular favorites.

Weddings

DIRK-PERRY

The marriage took place quietly at the manse of the First Presbyterian Church, Prince Rupert, on June 1 of Dorothy Winifred, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Perry, 121 Oswego Street, Victoria, and Thomas R. Dirk, third son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dirk, Vancouver. Rev. P. McSweeney officiated.

The bride wore a navy blue redingote over a printed silk dress, with rose accessories, and a corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses. She was attended by Mrs. Alex Haig, wearing blue pin-stripe suit and a corsage bouquet of rose carnations. Mr. Alex Haig was groomsmen. After the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Haig, Tenth Avenue, when friends tendered their congratulations to the young couple and toasted the bride as she cut the wedding cake.

Among the many gifts was a case of flat silver from the bride's former associates in the General Warehouse, Victoria, and an electric waffle iron from the groom's associates in Prince Rupert, where they will make their home.

EATON-FRAYN

MONTREAL (CP)—The marriage of Margaret Eleanor Frayn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence V. Frayn of suburban Westmount, and Mr. Richard S. Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eaton of Victoria, B.C., took place at the Church of the Advent in Westmount Wednesday, with Rev. Sydenham B. Lindsay officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory tulle with satin fashioned on simple lines with the skirt falling in a train.

Her veil of tulle illusion, held by a Juliet cap of interlaced pearls and orange blossoms, and worn over her face, extended to the end of her train. She carried a semicascade of Briarcliffe roses and adiantum.

Dr. Homer Scoggin of Montreal acted as best man for Mr. Eaton, and the ushers were Basil Little and John MacFarlane, both of Montreal. Miss Paddy West of Montreal was the bride's only attendant.

Mr. and Mrs. Eaton left for a wedding trip at Lake of Bays, Muskoka, Ont., following a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

SAGE-RANDALL

At Centennial United Church Saturday Rev. J. Turner united in marriage Lillian May Marie, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Randall of Cowichan Lake and Albert George, second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sage, 778 Kings Road. Miss Florence Pegg sang "I Love You Truly," and Mrs. Paul Green presided at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white sheer and lace dress with bishop sleeves. Her veil fell from a Mary Stuart headpiece trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Miss Lorraine Spouse was bridesmaid in a rose eyelet organdie dress with blue ribbons, a rose veil with blue flowers, and carried blue delphiniums and pink sweet peas. Mr. Albert Slater was best man, and ushers were Mr. Harry Sage and Mr. Charles Randall, brothers of the bride and groom.

About 50 guests attended the reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The couple stood beneath a pink and white arch and bells. Mrs. Randall wore a blue redingote ensemble with white hat and Mrs. Sage wore navy blue sheer with white hat. Both wore corsages of pink carnations and roses. The supper table was decorated with pink tapers and pink sweet peas, and centred with a three-tier cake. The bride changed to a sky blue dress with matching hat and beige coat and wore a corsage of gardenias and roses before leaving for a honeymoon to Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Sage will make their home in Victoria.

King's Daughters will hold its district meeting Monday afternoon at 2.30 in the headquarters, Jones Building.

Social and Personal

Mrs. E. E. Jukes and her two children, Patricia and Michele, have arrived from Bellingham, Wash., to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, St. Ann Street, Oak Bay.

Mrs. George Dodds, who as Miss Frances Madeley was on the staff of the Victoria Public Library before her marriage, is in the hospital in Stanley Internment Camp, Hongkong, according to word received by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Madeley, Vancouver, from the British Colonial Office. Safety of her husband, who is a nephew of Jackson Dodds of Montreal and an employee of the Chartered Bank of India, Asia and Australia, is presumed from recent word that all bank employees are interned in Macao. Mrs. Dodds has three brothers and one sister at present on active service with the Canadian forces.

Mrs. W. McLean, Rosebery Avenue, entertained Monday evening at a surprise shower in honor of Mrs. M. A. Johnston, a recent bride. On her arrival the guest of honor was presented with a lovely corsage of red roses. An attractively-decorated box in red, white and blue held the many beautiful gifts. Refreshments were served from a beautifully-appointed table, which was centred with a lovely glass bowl of flowers in pastel shades. The invited guests included Mrs. O. F. Anderson, Mrs. Wm. Johnston, Mrs. C. V. McConnell, Mrs. J. H. McConnell, Mrs. J. H. Cattroll, Mrs. H. Whyte, Mrs. H. Molyneux, Mrs. A. Penketh, Mrs. W. Stipe, Mrs. H. Price, Mrs. G. Upward, Misses Peggy Whyte, Marjorie McConnell and Muriel Anderson.

Honoring Miss Joyce Maddock, who is to be married next month, Mrs. H. C. Young and Mrs. R. Michell entertained at a grocery shower Monday night at the home of Mrs. Young, Keating Crossroad. On her arrival the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage of rosebuds and pinks. Miss N. Styan and Mrs. Bryce were winners of the games. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. G. Allen. Other invited guests were: Mrs. F. Michell, Mrs. W. Butler, Mrs. Macdonald, Mrs. E. Richardson, Mrs. W. Bate, Mrs. T. Michell, Mrs. Styan, Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. Whiteley, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. A. Hafer, Mrs. C. Sluggert, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Neilson, Mrs. Bull, Mrs. H. Young, Mrs. W. D. Michell, Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. J. Mrs. Donald E. Smith entertained recently at her home, 2229 Victor Street, in honor of Miss Rosiemar Parfitt, whose marriage to Mr. Henry A. Renfree takes place this week. Upon arrival the bride-to-be and her mother were presented with dainty corsages of mauve sweet peas and yellow rosebuds. Miss Parfitt was the recipient of a Madeira cut work luncheon cloth, accompanied with the best wishes of the assembled guests. Mrs. Smith presided at the tea table which was covered with lace cloth centred with yellow rosebuds and mauve nepeta in a cut glass bowl, while snapdragons and gladioli completed the floral setting of the drawing room. The invited guests were: Mrs. T. R. Main, Mrs. George Erikson, Mrs. E. Stewart, Mrs. W. J. Miles, Mrs. F. Parfitt, Mrs. Norris Harwood, Mrs. W. L. McKay, Mrs. W. P. Marchant, Mrs. F. H. Parfitt, Mrs. B. C. Gillie, Mrs. George H. E. Green and Mrs. Mark Parfitt.

The Strawberry Vale Bridge Club held its final meeting for the season in Spencers' dining-room Tuesday afternoon. After luncheon, bridge was played, prizes being won by Mrs. W. Yeamans, Mrs. E. Groutage, Mrs. D. Johnston, Mrs. C. Martin and Mrs. A. Loat.

The christening of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Woolcock took place Monday evening at St. John's Church, Rev. Mr. Biddle officiating. The child received the names Carolé Valerie and wore the christening robe of her mother. Godmothers were Mrs. J. Dempster and Miss Mary Vowles and the godfather was Mr. J. Dempster. After the ceremony tea was served at the home of the uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gullford, 1324 Balmoral Road. The table was covered with a lace cloth, centred with the christening cake.

After being a prisoner of war in Germany for the last year, Mrs. Tarrant Guernsey of Vancouver, along with 10 other Canadian women, is en route home aboard the diplomatic exchange ship, Drottningholm, which has been given safe conduct guarantees by the belligerent nations. Mrs. Guernsey, daughter of Mrs. F. R. McD. Russell, and sister of Miss Jean and Mr. Alan Russell, was taken prisoner after the sinking of the Zam Zam last May when she was en route to join her husband in South Africa after a visit to her family in Vancouver. The Drottningholm is expected to arrive in New York July 1.

One of Victoria's best-known native sons, Mr. A. W. Semple, celebrated his 80th birthday Thursday, the occasion being marked by receptions held both afternoon and evening at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Semple, 322 Dallas Road. Gifts, telegrams and messages of congratulations were showered upon the octogenarian, who, during the reception, delighted his friends with recitations, including one which had been written by his wife in celebration of the happy occasion. The tea-table was centred by two birthday cake, with old-fashioned nosegays of flowers at each corner of the table, and orange and green tapers in silver holders. Mrs. M. Crawford poured tea in the afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Stanley Semple and little Margaret and Joan Semple. In the evening a musical program was much enjoyed. Margaret Semple sang "The White Cliffs of Dover," accompanied by Miss M. E. Moore and Margaret and Joan Semple gave a pianoforte duet. Corsage bouquets were presented to Mrs. A. W. Semple, Mrs. Stanley Semple, Mrs. Crawford and Miss Moore.

The Evening Group of the First United Church entertained at the home of Mrs. Walter Walker, 3375 Weald Road, Uplands, Wednesday. The guests were the models in the recent bridal pageant. The president, Mrs. Robert Wallace, gave a report on the pageant, outlining the success of this project, and also expressed her thanks to the convener, Mrs. R. S. Niven, and the assisting committee. The treasurer reported net proceeds from the pageant totaled $128.85. Miss Byrdie Eilers, accompanied by Mrs. Eilers, sang for the guests and Miss Marnie Wilson entertained with a piano selection. As a parting gesture Miss Evelyn Thompson, on behalf of the group, made a presentation to Miss Marie McDougall, a member leaving shortly for the east, with a corsage of roses and pinks. Refreshments were served from a table arranged with a mirrored

Advocates Less Society News

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—More attention to women's war work and less space devoted to society news and women's activities of a nonuseful nature, was advocated to newspaper women gathered in convention here, by J. A. McNeil, general manager of the Canadian Press.

Mr. McNeil also told members of the Canadian Women's Press Club that postwar newspapers will be cleansed of outworn ideas and ready for still more aggressive championship of the general good.

Already they support or accept new economic concepts and social reforms which press and public would have fought in the past. Canadian papers are in good condition to face increasing taxation, rising costs and lessened revenues and none was unlikely to survive, he said. However, rationing of newsprint, decreased staffs and reduced advertising would dictate a streamlining that would eliminate nonessentials and necessitate smaller newspapers.

Women of Moose Install Officers

Women of the Moose, Victoria Chapter No. 25, met in the K. of P. Hall, Monday, senior regent, Mrs. D. Fairhurst, presiding. Grand parliamentarian Mrs. Elizabeth Deane was presented by special escorts, graduate regent Mrs. M. Davis and recorder Mrs. E. Burge of Vancouver chapter, and graduate regents Mrs. A. Hatcher and M. Pearce of Victoria chapter, all members of the academy of friendship. Reports were given by the sick matron, Mrs. M. Nealon, and Mrs. W. Spaven told of magazines delivered to the Salvage Corps. The sum of $10 was realized on the luncheon cloth donated by Mrs. E. Murcheson and will be given to the Kiwanis milk fund. Mrs. M. Groat, homemaking chairman, reported another quilt completed. A hand-made tray was donated by Mrs. V. Warren in aid of the softball. Installation of officers took place, there being some 200 present. The hall was decorated in flowers of the color of the order, red, white and purple. Installing officers for the ceremony were: Grand parliamentarian E. Deane, installing regent; Mrs. V. Greenwood, installing guide; Mrs. M. Pearce, installing chaplain, and Mrs. A. Veach, installing pianist. Senior regent presented Miss D. Guelpa with her graduate regent's pin, also presented small gifts to the installing officers, the retiring officers, and to those acting as escorts. The committee chairman also received a token of appreciation for their year's work. The installation ceremony was in charge of the ritualistic chairman, Mrs. A. Hatcher, who received a gift from the escorts. Grand parliamentarian Mrs. E. Deane gave a talk on the principles of the order. Refreshments were served by Mrs. V. Warren and her committee and Brother Moose. Senior regent Mrs. D. Fairhurst left Tuesday afternoon for Yakima, Washington, as a special representative of the Northwest Moose Association conference. The auditors will meet at the home of Mrs. M. Carter, 647 Dupplin Road, July 2 at 2. The next meeting, July 3 at 8 will be quarter night.

floral bowl of roses and Canterbury bells. Mrs. Hugh McLeod and Mrs. W. H. Wilson presided at the urns and assisting in serving were Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. D. Catts, Mrs. D. Allen, Mrs. M. Wright, Miss Gertrude Derkin and Miss Marnie Wilson. Mrs. Ralph Matthews thanked the hostess, Mrs. Walker, for her hospitality.

Miss Winnifred Applegate, retired young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Applegate, who left Victoria about a year ago to continue her musical studies with a view to an operatic career, is making brilliant progress in her singing. She recently passed her A.T.C.M. examination at the Toronto Conservatory of Music with first-class honors, and also passed with first-class honors in history of music. In addition Miss Applegate gained high marks in practical piano. She has fulfilled a number of professional engagements in Toronto and has twice sung over the blue network.

HOW TO KEEP RAYONS FREE FROM RUNS

1. Buy carefully and be sure you get your right size and length.
2. Easy does it—put on your rayons as carefully as those silk ones you used to have.
3. Avoid cake soap rubbing; don't twist; : : harsh handling weakens delicate threads, encourages runs.
4. Dip stockings in lukewarm Lux every night when you take them off. This saves their elasticity; it helps them fit better.
5. Gently squeeze out moisture without wringing, then roll in a turkish towel. Hang over a rod away from heat and sun. Don't use clothespins.
6. Dry a whole day at least, after dipping before you wear them again. Rayons are strongest when perfectly dry.

YOUR glamorous new rayons or bemberrys need gentle care. Be sure you dip them in Lux every night. Gentle Lux whisks away harmful perspiration which rots delicate threads. Lux cuts down embarrassing, costly runs.

Entertain 200,000 Men Since Opening

The monthly meeting of the Victoria Hostess Club was held in the clubrooms Monday. Reports from the various sub-committees were heard and everything is going in a satisfactory manner. It was reported that since the club opened 18 months ago that 200,000 men from the three forces had been entertained at the club. During this time the bands of the three forces and many civilian orchestras have been most generous in providing music for dancing through the week. On Sundays the entertainment committee have arranged bingo, ping-pong, movies and musical and stage talent to amuse the men.

Any local orchestras or stage talent who would like to offer their services to further entertain the men would be very much appreciated, also anybody wishing to donate modern dance sheet music, kindly phone G 6686.

Business Women Discuss Postwar Reconstruction

Post-war rehabilitation and reconstruction, particularly as these affect women, were the subjects of the convention of Business and Professional Women's Club representatives at Harrison Hot Springs Hotel June 20 and 21. Of the 40 delegates from all parts of British Columbia, 14 were from Victoria. Mrs. Madge Hall, provincial vice-president, who headed the Victoria delegation, organized and acted as chairman of the convention.

Requests to the B.C. provincial government for the appointment of at least three women on the Post-War Rehabilitation Council, and to the Dominion government to inaugurate a contributory pension scheme towards the building of a retirement fund applicable at the age of 60; and a recommendation aimed at the creation of elementary school instruction in systematized saving, formed the basis of three resolutions passed at the convention.

THE OLDER WOMAN

The problems of rehabilitation and reconstruction were considered via the channel of carefully prepared papers and discussion. Miss Lillian Parfitt, Victoria, and Miss Helen Grimmer, New Westminster, reviewed reconstruction from the angle of the older business and professional woman on the verge of retirement or about to be replaced by men or younger women. The former touched on the advances made by women economically, psychologically, and from an educational standpoint since the last war. But still, after 25 years, women had yet fully to justify her position economically. Age was no handicap to women in highly specialized vocations, but the contrary was true of women in the routine jobs. Only in wartime was the emphasis not placed on youth.

Miss Grimmer spoke of some of the opportunities made available in wartime to older women, but indicated the precariousness of their position in post-war time. In this connection she recommended amendment to the Old-Age Pensions Act whereby parents would be provided for, and thus release younger women from parental responsibility. Financial security and systematic saving must be sought.

PENSION SCHEME

Already 75,000 women were in war industries in Canada, Miss Parfitt said in projecting the question as to whether women, particularly older women in such industries, would be able after the war to go back to their previous jobs. Canada would have to provide peacetime industries, and legislation should be enacted providing some form of pension system for the older workers. More women legislators might secure this.

Miss Grimmer suggested that older women particularly would be advised not to leave established positions for wartime industries without securing a guarantee that their positions would be held for them. She urged study of some system of financial security and systematic saving. She noted in closing that the Business and Professional Women's Club of New Westminster during the past nine years had had no applications at their employment bureau for women of 40 or over.

Miss Galloway, Vancouver, and Miss Mabel Cameron, Victoria, took part in the discussion.

SYSTEMATIC SAVING

Emphasis on the need for some educational program along the lines of systematic saving was made by Miss Muriel Armstrong, Zelotes Club, Victoria, in opening discussion of the reconstruction era as seen from the angle of younger women who came into the industrial world by reason of war conditions, and who, at the end of hostilities, were about to be replaced by men. As a safeguard for them she urged that girls be not tempted by high wartime wages to discontinue their education. The better-trained girls would be the ones who would stand up best to the post-war competition for jobs.

Other points urged were physical fitness, development of proficiency in some alternative vocation, the learning of at least one other language, preferably French, the joining of study groups, and a knowledge of the social and economic system. Miss Westcott, Vancouver, supplemented these suggestions with a plea for development of hobbies, which often could be turned into money-producing.

POST-WAR ECONOMICS

Subsequent speakers at the evening session discussed replacement of all persons, whether men or women, into civil life after the war; and war injury compensation for civilians, on the basis of equality for men and women both in war industry pay and war injury compensation.

Miss L. McKay of the Fanoba Club, Vancouver, recommended the study of the Atlantic Charter for its ideal plan for the economic future of the new world after the war; and of British Columbia's post-war rehabilitation program. She reviewed briefly Australia's plan for re-establishment of industries after the war, and New Zealand's old-age pension plan applicable to those of 60 years and over. Miss Gainer, Edmonton, urged that girls make themselves indispensable in their jobs, and championed "more women in Parliament."

COST OF WAR

"The cost of this war to Canada" and "Canada's war industries" were the principal topics discussed at the Sunday morning session. Miss Minnie Beveridge, Victoria, opening the debate on the former, reviewed the factual costs first, but placed especial emphasis on what she called the "intangible" costs. In the first category she placed man and woman power and administration; in the group of "intangible" costs she listed lowering of moral standards, cost of religious beliefs, the tendency to regard freedom as license.

"Industry," she said, "must recognize that it exists to serve humanity, and not that humanity exists to serve industry. It is the freedom of mankind that is at issue today; mankind cannot exist half slave, half free."

Mrs. K. Farquharson stressed that the greatest danger of the war was encroachment on freedom.

Miss Mima Brown, Vancouver, gave statistics to show that Canada was actually carrying out a commendable wartime program in shipbuilding and manufacture of armaments and other military equipment. Engaged in manufacture and distribution of war materials today were about 700,000 men and women. Mrs. McLean, New Westminster, touched on some of the civilian volunteer efforts such as salvaging, now an important industry.

The convention opened with a dinner on Saturday evening, when Miss Stewart, of the Kamloops club, was hostess. Miss M. Cameron summarized the discussions at the closing luncheon Sunday.

WEDDINGS

McEVAY—HILL

A large congregation in Victoria West United Church last evening at 8:30 witnessed the pretty wedding of Marjory Helen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hill, 1209 Alderman Road, and James William McEvay, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. McEvay, 539 Langford Street. Rev. J. C. Jackson performed the ceremony against a background of baskets of Canterbury bells and snapdragons, with colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations marking the guest pews.

Mr. Hill gave his daughter in marriage. She chose a floor-length gown of white chiffon, with tight-fitting waist having a Swiss embroidered top and bishop sleeves, buttoned at the back with self-covered buttons, the hip-length veil of embroidered French net falling from a coronet of waxed lilies and orange blossom. She carried a shower bouquet of vari-hued gerbera.

Miss Joyce Merrick was maid of honor, in pale pink, and Miss Marion Watson, bridesmaid, in turquoise blue, their floor-length gowns being similarly fashioned of chiffon, with fitted waist and bishop sleeves. Both wore head-dresses of net in Mary Tudor style and carried bouquets of snapdragons and carnations. Little Myrla Jewett, as flower-girl, wore a long frock of primrose organdie, with full, tiered skirt, puff sleeves, and a wreath of flowers in her hair. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds. Mr. William Smith was best man, and Messrs. Richard Merrick and Warren Barker, ushers. Miss Amy Anderson played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Elaine Hartie in her solo, "Until".

At the largely attended reception in I.O.O.F. hall, the young couple stood beneath a floral arch to receive felicitations. Mrs. Hill welcomed the guests in a floor-length frock of old gold with hat and accessories to match, assisted by Mrs. McEvay, in a floor-length frock of dark blue chiffon, with tiny jacket, a hat of navy taffeta, and both wore rosebuds.

Miss Elaine Hartie sang solos and Mr. Albert Denoni played the accordion during the evening. The supper table, with its three-tiered bride's cake, was covered with a lace cloth and arranged with silver vases of yellow rosebuds. Mr. Lawrence Samson, uncle of the groom, proposed the toast to the bride.

For the honeymoon on the mainland, the bride wore a rose dress, with black fitted coat, rose straw hat and accessories. They will make their home at 327 Langford Street, Victoria.

Clubwomens' News

St. John Senior W.A. spent an enjoyable afternoon Tuesday as guests of their president, Mrs. S. H. Brake, View Royal. A brief final meeting was held, after which refreshments were served in the garden.

Pride of Victoria Junior Orange Association recently held a meeting at the Orange Hall, Miss Irene Noel presiding, assisted by guardians Mrs. A. Edmonds and Mrs. M. Paterson. Four new members were admitted to the order. Following the meeting, the girls were all surprised with a party, arranged by the guardians and committee. Games and songs were enjoyed and a banquet was held in the dining-hall, where each girl was presented with a favor and a small gift. The final meeting of the season will be held on Saturday.

W.A. to Britannia Branch, No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., held a successful strawberry tea at the home of Mrs. M. Dempster, 1935 Waterloo Road, under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. G. Ree. Master Raymond Clarke gave selections on his piano accordion and Miss Grace Adams rendered vocal numbers. Mrs. D. Shubrook had charge of the treasure trail, which was won by Master Raymond Clarke, and Mrs. G. Sheldrick had charge of the bingo. Court whist and cribbage were played, winners being: Cribbage, Mrs. H. Jarvis and Mr. J. Broadbent; court whist, Mrs. D. Shubrook and Mrs. A. Jarvis. Mrs. G. Ree and staff served refreshments. ## Shortage of Nurses

MONTREAL (CP) — Miss Grace M. Fairley of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, told its members at their biennial meeting here Thursday that "the whole professional picture of Canadian nurses has become so serious that the Canadian Nurses' Association realizes that it is no longer a purely professional responsibility, but one that must be shared by the public, as it is one affecting the whole Dominion."

"It did not need a prophet's mind to realize that the whole picture would become more aggravated unless something of a definitely constructive nature could be accomplished, and this would need money," added Miss Fairley.

Miss Fairley said that in line with a recommendation, made earlier by the association the federal government had been approached with a request for money.

"So far the grant has not been made, but we are still hopeful and we are doing all we can to further this project. It was made clear to the government that the nursing profession should not be expected to carry the entire financial load for work that is essentially a national service—service second only to the armed forces."

Is YOUR JOB the "sit-down" kind?

"SITTING behind a steering wheel burns nervous energy, but it's not real exercise. Yet I keep fit. Here's my simple system: a big, satisfying dish of Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning, so I can be at my best every day."

KEEP FIT WITH KELLOGG'S

every day in the year!

No need to put up with that "heavy-as-lead" feeling!

Don't let depressed, tired-out days slow you down, just because your job gives you no chance for healthful exercise. Follow these two rules of health: (1) To get well, see your doctor; (2) To keep well, watch your habits. Make sure elimination is complete. But don't resort to harsh cathartics. Instead get plenty of "bulk" in your diet. And get it in a form so delicious you'll want to take it every day! That means Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat. Mildly laxative, they help supply valuable minerals and proteins, too. And they're so crisp and crunchy, so downright delicious you'll want a big bowlful of them every morning! Ask your grocer for the golden-yellow package of Kellogg's Bran Flakes tomorrow. It comes in two convenient sizes. And in restaurants, order the individual package with the inner WAXTITE sealed bag. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Service Stations Want Hours Cut

The service stations of Victoria met in the Empress Hotel Wednesday evening to appoint officers for the coming year and receive a report from Geo. R. Matthews, provincial secretary, Retail Merchants' Association, on his conference in Toronto with G. R. Cottrell, oil controller.

An advisory committee consisting of representatives from each province in Canada has been set up to confer with Mr. Cottrell. Owing to the scarcity of labor and the necessity of some proprietors having to be on the job 12 hours a day, Vancouver service stations are endeavoring to secure a reduction in the hours station are to remain open. Victoria service stations unanimously endorsed this move because of the impossibility of securing help.

So acute is the situation becoming that service stations will find they will have to give priority to garage work and when approved by the service stations throughout the province, will request an order from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board prohibiting the giving of nonessential services, such as cleaning off the windshield.

Because of the need of tire conservation and the proper checking of batteries, service station proprietors feel that they must continue to give this service free as long as they can possibly secure help to do so. Cards are to be displayed in the various stations requesting the car owner to confine the checking of air in his tires to once a week and, preferably at the quiet hours and not necessarily when the customer is purchasing gasoline.

Since the rubber and gasoline restrictions have become effective it was reported cars are no longer used for joy-riding over the week-end and on holidays. Victoria service stations therefore will close on July 1, thus giving their overworked employees a holiday.

R. R. Taylor, Victoria Super Service Station, was unanimously elected chairman of the Victoria service station division of the Retail Merchants' Association and the following selected to constitute the executive:

Mayhew Urges Understanding Among Canadians

Plea for better understanding between English and French-speaking Canadians was made by R. W. Mayhew, M.P., before the Kinsmen Club in Empress Hotel Wednesday night.

The Victoria member, who will leave for the House of Commons by plane at the week-end, chose a novel way of making his speech. He answered written questions from club members.

"It might help me to better decide some of the things that have to be decided at Ottawa," he said.

"All the extremists are not in Quebec—they are everywhere," Mr. Mayhew said. "We must try to strike a happy balance. When this fight is won, we will have a bigger fight ahead of us and that will be the fight for peace and the basis of that fight must be that all men are brothers. We've got to start, now, trying to understand the other fellow's point of view, whether he lives in Quebec or in any other part of the world."

HOME IS ALL

Explaining French-Canada's attitude to the war, he said people in country parts of that province do not read as much as people in the rest of Canada, they depend largely on what they are told. Their home is their all to them and they do not see why they should fight to defend anyone else's home.

The present debate on the Mobilization Act, Mr. Mayhew said, displeased many Canadians as being too long. He thought it wise to let every French-Canadian M.P. speak for "this is a democracy." All French-speaking members are not from Quebec—some live in New Brunswick and Ontario, he said.

Mr. Mayhew sounded a note of warning about over-optimism or undue pessimism, as at the present time.

"This war will not be won, or we should not think it won, until the last bugle has sounded and the enemy has put down his arms," he said. "Today we are going through, in Canada, one of the most difficult periods in our history, probably the most difficult we will ever have to face. We, as Canadians, with the rest of our world have put our hands to the plow and we have decided we are going through with this job no matter what the reverses; we are not going to look back, we are going ahead to victory. We, as Canadians, should be proud of Canada and what she is doing. If we are not proud now we never will be."

PREPARE NOW

Since he returned from Ottawa, Mr. Mayhew said, many people asked him if they should prepare to evacuate Vancouver Island. He said he told them the best way to do this is to prepare "to evacuate the other fellow, if he comes, and not ourselves."

"I wish every one of the men of Victoria would realize this and make some preparation on his own part to defend this island," he said.

Regarding the future Mr. Mayhew said "personally I never was more confident of victory than I am tonight. I say that because I know something of what is going on, something of the preparation being made in Canada and the United States in the way of planes and ships and munitions."

He urged everyone to remain steadfast and not become an alarmist.

He urged Kinsmen Club members, as young businessmen, to plan for the future, although he said the war is the big job of the moment. He told them to give some thought to establishment of waterpower on the island, as a means of attracting industry here. Eastern businessmen would not move here, merely because the climate is attractive, he said.

Harold Bourne, president of the club, was in the chair and introduced Mr. Mayhew, who was thanked by Harold Winterburn. The latter said that of 35 Kinsmen Club members 10 are in active service and four in the reserve. Capt. David Thomson and Lt. Vernon Ridgeway were present in uniform.

Win in Women's Golf

Young Girls In Semis

CHICAGO (AP)—A couple of teen-age girl golfers—17-year-old Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., and 18-year-old Jeannie Cline of Bloomington, Ill., worked their way through the quarter-finals of the Women's Western Open Tournament Thursday and qualified to meet Marjorie Row, 20, of Detroit, and Betty Jameson, 24, of San Antonio, in today's semifinals.

The two golferettes advanced in a day of hard-played matches, the easiest being Miss Otto's 3 and 2 triumph over Sallie Sessions of Muskegon, Mich. Miss Cline defeated Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, 2 and 1, climaxing the contest by sinking a 10-foot putt on the 17th green for a birdie four.

Miss Row's victory was at the expense of Virginia Ingram, Winnetka, Ill., whom she defeated 2 and 1. Miss Jameson was forced to rally and capture the final three holes before stopping Dorothy Foster of Springfield, Ill., 2 up.

Miss Otto will play Miss Row and Miss Cline met Miss Jameson

this afternoon over the Elmhurst Country Club layout.

Miss Cline's win over Miss Kirby, former southern champion, was the day's surprise, the Bloomington girl taking advantage of the Atlantan's poor putting to be one up at the turn and then grabbing the 15th and 17th holes after Miss Kirby, evened the match on the 13th.

Miss Foster played heads-up golf to hold Miss Jameson, former two-time National champion, even at the turn, and took a one up margin by winning the 14th. They halved the 15th and then Miss Jameson took the next three holes for the victory.

Windsor Slipper Wins Irish Derby

DUBLIN (AP)—Joseph McGrath's unbeaten Windsor Slipper chalked up his fifth victory Thursday in winning the Irish Derby at Curragh.

The colt, cantered home six lengths in front at odds of 7 to 2 to stamp himself as the leading three-year-old in Ireland.

F. W. S. Turner, Salt Spring, And 2 Others Awarded D.F.C.

LONDON (CP)—Award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to three members of the R.C.A.F. for gallantry, skill and devotion to duty was announced today.

They are Sqdn. Ldr. Francis W. S. (Roscoe) Turner of Salt Spring Island, P.O. Joseph Porter McCarthy of Toronto and W.O. Arthur Richard Hunter of Fort William.

Turner who joined the R.A.F. in 1935 later transferred to the R.C.A.F. and has long been experienced in operational duties.

"He has displayed courage and keenness throughout and performed excellent work in organizing his flight and training his crews," said a citation which noted that he participated in an attack on a German fleet off Heligoland in 1939 and a number of subsequent daylight attacks on Heligoland and Wilhelmshaven.

Recently Turner took part in raids on Paris industrial works and the Baltic port of Rostock, and the gigantic smash at Cologne.

McCarthy's citation said his method of attack was extremely sound and his advice to less-experienced crews "invaluable." His conduct in adverse circumstances "has earned him high praise." McCarthy has made more than 30 sorties into enemy territory.

The third citation said that Hunter, who serves as an observer, has "shown exceptional skill and ability." He participated in many attacks on the Ruhr and was in the assault on the Renault works near Paris.

FOUR WAR VESSELS SUNK

The D.F.C. also was awarded to two Canadians in the R.A.F. Flt. Lt. Leslie Ford, 22, of Halifax, and P.O. Robert Douglas Bowen, 25, of Edmonton.

Ford's citation described him as a "keen, zealous flight commander and leader" who took part in two actions in which two enemy destroyers and two minesweepers were sunk and two destroyers damaged.

Bowen, who has acted many times as a flight commander on convoy patrols, was cited as "an enthusiastic, efficient pilot whose services are of great value." He is credited with destroying one enemy aircraft and damaging another.

Modern aircraft engine valves will operate at a temperature of 1,600 degrees Fahrenheit and will last for as much as 4,000 hours of flying.

You'll never be satisfied with anything else once you see RINSO WHITENESS

WHEN you see clothes which have been washed with Rinso you quickly appreciate the difference... Rinso not only washes whiter, it gives the whitest wash! In fact you'll say the only real standard of whiteness is Rinso whiteness.

Colors wash best in Rinso, too. Week after week you'll see that they come up bright and fresh as daisies. Rinso actually helps all the clothes to wear longer. Its rich suds float away dirt, make it unnecessary to rub or scrub.

Whatever your previous washing experience has been you have only to use Rinso once and you will never again be satisfied with anything else for your wash.

Order some Rinso for this coming washday. Get the GIANT package at your store for extra economy.

RINSO CERTAINLY MAKES CLOTHES LAST LONGER. AND KEEPS COLORS BRIGHT TOO!

By JIM KEARNEY

It would tingle a young buck's pride and make his innards glow in technicolor to hear words from Bill O'Keefe, the old-time soccer player of note.

Sitting in Art Chapman's forum of tall stories the other morning we listened to Bill speak of the glories of soccer for a while and expound the merits of players of then and now.

Finally he came around to the part with which this column started.

"You know," he said, "we had some pretty good players in those days, but they couldn't keep up with the kids that are playing the game today."

Those were strange words from an old-timer. We had been so used to hearing many of the old-time athletes, both of the playing and grandstand brands, tell of the days when the 20th century was but a baby and they and other athletes played football, baseball and hockey as it should be played.

You've probably heard the old boys remark:

"He missed that goal by 10 feet—
I'd never have missed an easy one like that!"

Or "he should have caught that ball back against the center-field fence—why, back in 1911 when we played, we would have got those kind with our eyes shut, wouldn't we, Joe?" Those kids don't play the same ball as we used to.

"You're darn right they don't play the same ball," Bill exclaimed. "We weren't even in their class."

"Whenever these old-timers tell me that football, baseball and all those other sports aren't as good as they used to be, I just ask them if they ever saw themselves play. Of course they say 'no.' "Well," said Bill, "I tell them I saw them play and that they couldn't tie the boots of the present generation of athletes. Just look up your records—that's a proof enough."

Let youth be vindicated. Maybe this present generation isn't so bad after all.

By the bye, Bill's two sons, Jack and Roy, for years stars with the Victoria West football club, are now in Halifax, lieutenants in the artillery.

Freddie Winslow, now lieutenant, who starred here in junior basketball and was marked for the Dominions, returned to the city on three weeks' leave, Tuesday. Lt. Winslow received his commission upon graduating with the last class to come out of the Royal Military College. He is attached to a reconnaissance battalion.

Gordon Patterson, who played with Dominions two years back, joined the Canadian active army, Thursday. Dick Surphiss, one of the city's leading runners of not so many years ago, is now a sergeant in the American army, stationed somewhere in the United States. He joined up last November.

Sid Anderson, one of the Bays' most valuable forwards, will be out of lacrosse for a few weeks as a result of a bad foot injury suffered in the shipyard the other day. Somebody dropped a caulking gun on Sid's right pedal digit.

Ack Ack Stop R.C.N. Nine

In what was probably the first case of anti-aircraft artillery sinking a navy, Maj. Connie Smyth's 30th Ack Ack stopped the high-flying R.C.N. softball nine 6 to 2 at Athletic Park Thursday evening and so snapped the sailors' winning streak at 41 straight games.

More than 400 spectators, the largest crowd of the season, watched the Ontario soldiers get to the offerings of navy pitcher Stebbings in the third, fifth and ninth innings. Stebbings allowed only five hits, but the Ack Acks bunched them when needed.

Atanasoff was on the mound for the winners and pitched some of the nicest softball seen in Victoria in many years. His change of pace kept the sailors puzzled all evening, and although they got to him for six hits they couldn't bunch them.

The soldiers took a 2 to 1 lead in the third inning, increased it to 5 to 1 in the fourth, while each team got a run across the plate in the ninth.

LEAGUE GAMES

In the B section of the city league Coach and Horas defeated V.M.D. 9 to 4, while Douglas Tire, behind the pitching of Rosy McLeellan, walloped Hudson's Bay 21 to 2.

GOLF FINALS AT GORGE SUNDAY

After 36 holes this Sunday a new champion will be named at the Gorge Golf Club. Leo Derman and E. Robinson will meet in the final, starting the morning round at 9 and the afternoon's 18 holes at 1.30. Club president, Dave Hurdle, will present the prizes to the champion, runner-up and flight winners after the championship has been decided.

The women's 'championship semifinals will also be played, Isabel Jarvis meeting Mrs. Jumbo Davies, while Mrs. Art Cooke matches shots with Mrs. Charlie High.

Other starting times are as follows:

MEN'S EVENTS
First Flight—9.05, J. Caddell vs. E. Bryant.
Second Flight—9.35, J. Cooke vs. O. A. Trickett.

Vancouver Bowler And Curler Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. W. Moore, well known as a commission agent, manufacturer, bowler and curler, died here Thursday. He was one of the Yukon's early pioneers, and on coming to Vancouver established a commission business. Later he opened a plant for the manufacture of box pads, and after closing it went to Vernon to open a plant there about seven years ago.

Mr. Moore was prominent as a mason, and was a past master. He was a past president of the Vancouver Curling Club, and for many years secretary, and later president, of the B.C. Lawn Bowling Association. He once visited Great Britain with a party of lawn bowlers. He was also a member of the Scottish Rite and a past councillor of the United Commercial Travelers. Two daughters, two sons, two brothers, and three sisters survive.

One-Two-Three—Kick

Conga-fashion, Jimmy Brown of St. Louis Cardinals does a fine bit of interpretive dancing around second base as Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants, just forced out, apparently attempts to get in the groove also.

St. Louis Pitcher Hot

The success story of the year in baseball concerns Morton C. Cooper of St. Louis Cardinals, who is most likely to be the National League's starting pitcher in the all-star game at New York July 6.

Cooper won his 10th victory and sixth shutout Thursday 4 to 0 with a stunning two-hit performance against Boston Braves in an army-navy relief game that raised more than $28,500 from 25,000 fans at Boston.

It was only the third victory in the last nine games for St. Louis and Cooper won all three with shutouts—stretching a skein of 32 consecutive scoreless innings.

One of the most remarkable aspects of the big right-hander's success is that in four previous seasons in the National League he obtained just five shutouts and did not administer a single whitewash last year when he won 13 games and lost nine.

Apparently the arm operation he had early last season changed him from a good pitcher to a great one. He had several bone chips removed from his right elbow and most pitchers who have had similar operations have taken a year or more to regain their old form, but Cooper was out of action only about a month.

LOST ONLY THREE

When he returned to the mound he quit relying so much on his fast ball and started pitching to hitters' weaknesses. The result has been his fine work this summer, when he has been beaten only three times and on each occasion by one run.

Thursday he retired the first 16 batters in order and afterward permitted just two singles and one walk. His teammates gave him one run in the first inning and three more in the third on three hits and three walks.

Brooklyn Dodgers bashed Cincinnati Reds 4 to 0 in a twilight game by rallying five successive hits after two were out in the third inning. Peeewe Reese, Lew Riggs, Pete Reiser and Joe Medwick hit singles for two runs, with Medwick's blow extending his hitting streak to 27 games.

CUBS BEAT PHILS

Big Bill Lee also pitched five-hit ball as Chicago Cubs cuffed the Phils 7 to 1 to sweep their three-game series at Philadelphia. The Cubs clinched the game in the third with five runs off John Podgajny.

In the American League Chicago White Sox shut out Washington Senators for the second straight game 2 to 0 in a spectacular hurling duel between Lee (Buck) Ross and Sid Hudson. The Washington right-hander allowed just five hits, one less than his teammates made off Ross, but Chicago wasted only one hit.

Ross himself doubled with two out in the third and scored on a single by Wally Moses and two singles and a fly added the other marker in the fourth.

Bays Go Down 21 to 11 Before United Services

Winners Play Best Boxla Of Season

When a realist like Ted Menzies cries "gadooks and little fishes" there is something wrong. And there was something wrong at the Sports Centre Thursday night as United Services applied coat after coat of shellac to beat the James Bay lacrosse team, 21 to 11, the worst defeat suffered by the provincial intermediate titlists in the last three years.

Services built up an 11 to 2 lead by half time and then matched Bays goal for goal to coast home with the easy win. They were coasting all night despite the enforced retirement of two of their best men, Hall and Gallicano, from injuries early in the first quarter.

Everyone was playing lacrosse from goalie Jim Ryan out. In the first half the play was the best seen in the Sports Centre this season, and although it developed into a rough and tumble in the second canto, the servicemen held more than their own the whole distance.

BAYS NOT UP TO SNUFF

James Bay, on the other hand, was not by any means spectacular. The lads had played much better games this season. Their passing, timing and shooting was off kilter and when they did get in on the Services' goal, usually powered their shots into Ryan's pads.

Realizing early in the game that as Arnold Ferguson goes the Bays go, the Services sat on Menzies' ace man all evening. Fergie tried hard enough, but every time he got within 40 feet of the servicemen's goal he thought he had run into the inside of a washing machine. In the second half he managed to lose himself enough to score four goals and so make partial vindication.

The general consensus of one of the largest crowds of the season, however, was that Bays would still have left by the rear exit even had they been hotter than a Turkish bath.

SERVICES START EARLY

United Services wasted no time in showing the fans where they intended to be after the show was over. They were leading 2 to 1 at the 12-minute mark of the first quarter, when Bays fell apart and saw three quickies pass goalie Buzz Long. That just about wound up everything.

During the canto, however, Gallicano went out with a long cut on top of his head. Stan Hall followed him five minutes later, having his cheek cut open after running into a Bay squeeze play.

In the second quarter Bays were outscored six goals to one and hardly looked to be in the game. They could organize no offensive plays and their defence had more holes in it than a piece of overripe cheese. Menzies, bombastic in the first quarter, ran out of words in the second canto and just watched, wondered and muttered.

GAME GETS CLOSER

Art Chapman came into the Bay box when the second half got going to help find an antidote for what befell blue-sweated boys in the first half. He half succeeded in that while the Services scored 10 more goals, Bays came back with nine markers to take some of the sordidness out of the match.

The lacrosse wasn't as good as in the first half, but the teams mixed it up and still checked hard, which pleased the more blood-thirsty customers. In the third session Services outscored Bays six to five, while both squads added four each in the last quarter.

Long-legged Doug Caydzen led the Services' scoring brigade with five goals. With four each, Earl McDonald and Art Mayo trailed him. Jackie James teamed beautifully with Mayo to get seven assists with his two goals. The fans had named these two small men the newest Gold Dust Twins before the game was half over.

With his four second half goals Ferguson led the Bays. Ralph Fraser and Austin Cullin followed him with two apiece.

In the United Services' goal temperamental Jimmie Ryan hopped lively enough to kick out 25 shots. Buzz Long, much harder pressed at the other end, played a smart game despite the loss. He stopped 33 shots.

PRESENT MEDALS

R.C.A.F. Plays Eagles Tonight

Eagles and R.C.A.F. Flyers will be the two principals in tonight's baseball dish at Athletic Park at 6.30. Eagles, last year's champs, are in fifth spot, and badly need some wins to ensure themselves a place in the Rithet Cup playoffs.

Manager George Syrotuck has "Shorty" Berkey, former Chemalunus hurler, scheduled for mound duties, with Reg. Regnier catching.

R.C.A.F., anxious to get in third spot with Pitzer and Nex Percy Switch will be pitching and Frank Julian will finish the battery.

SATURDAY GAMES

What looks to be two close games have been scheduled for Saturday. In the afternoon contest at 2.30 the Royal Canadian Navy will go up against Army, while at 6.30, R.C.A.F. will tackle league-leading V.M.D. crew.

It is expected Jack McIntyre will start on the mound for the sailors, while either Gerry Whitney or Lloyd Cann will take over the heavy duties for the troops.

R.C.A.F. handed V.M.D. their first beating a couple of weeks ago, and the shipyarders will be a vengeful bunch Saturday night. Their first step will be to put recently-arrived Chief Jimmie Rattlesnake in the pitcher's box. A full-blooded Indian Chief, Jimmie has pitched good ball in and around Edmonton.

The Flyers will probably start Appleby.

EMPLOYEES VOTE ON BONUS ISSUE

Further action on the part of civic employees over the cost-of-living bonus passed for certain classes by the City Council will depend on the outcome of an employees' vote which will be counted Monday or Tuesday, according to word from the City Hall today.

The bonus granted under a $2,100 a year income ceiling and divided to give family heads with dependents double the bonus amount paid single workers without dependents, has caused controversy. To settle the matter the Civic Federation of Greater Victoria issued a referendum to members asking if they were in favor of accepting the bonus and discontinuing further action to secure arbitration, or if they wished to accept the amount and press for arbitration. The replies to the questions are expected to be returned to officials by Monday and the count will be made without delay.

Primary department of First United Sunday school will hold a picnic tomorrow afternoon in Beacon Hill Park from 2 to 5. If the weather is bad it will be held in the Sunday school.

Pay Taxes Early Citizens Advised

Property owners of Victoria were advised by G. A. Okell, city assessor-collector, today to try to meet current obligations on their holdings before the heavier burdens of federal taxation make themselves felt this year.

Reporting collections during June above those for the similar month, Mr. Okell said the cumulative total from the beginning of the year was still below that for the equivalent period in 1941. He said no particular concern was felt over that fact, since returns to date have been healthy, but noted the prepaid system in operation in Victoria give homeowners a definite cash bonus for advance payment. In addition to enjoying that concession, those paying the amount due well before the October deadline would also be freed to devote their funds to federal taxes when those imposts started to reduce pay cheques, he said.

Up to June 25, tax prepayments amounted to $691,019 this year against 1941's figure of $742,938. The adverse difference is approximately $12,000 less than at the end of May.

In the arrears division, 1942 collections to June 25 stand at $71,988, a total of $25,379 below last year's total at the similar date. The decrease in that field, however, is largely attributable to the fact less is outstanding this year than last.

Victoria Boy Orator Off on Speaking Tour

Mun Hope, graduate of Victoria High School and of Victoria College, and a one-year winner of the Victoria Daily Times trophy for elocution and oratory, will leave next week on an evangelistic tour of the prairies, during which he will hold meetings in Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Regina.

In the autumn he will go to Ontario at the invitation of the Christian Laymen's Association 'to hold a series of meetings in Galt, Niagara Falls and other cities.

He has just concluded a week of preaching in Vancouver, following a campaign which covered 18 centres on this island.

Although one of the leaders of thought among the younger generation of Chinese, he has never been to China. He has traveled in England, France, Holland and Belgium as well as in the United States.

Army Week to Pay Tribute to Men in Khaki

An appeal to residents of this area to show their appreciation of the army in definite form during Army Week, starting Monday, was made by Acting Mayor Archie Wills today. His request found full support from Reeve W. L. Woodhouse, Oak Bay.

The appeal follows: "Next week Canada will celebrate Army Week. Victoria will join with the rest of the Dominion, in paying tribute to the officers and men in khaki who are ready at a moment's notice to uphold the reputation established by their fathers as the greatest storm troops in the first World War.

"A committee of local citizens is mapping a program for Army Week, which will open Monday and extend to Sunday, July 5, which will be a day of prayer. This committee has asked that I appeal for the support of all citizens to make Army Week an outstanding success.

"The week is officially designed to enable civilians to pay their respects to the army, to show their appreciation of its qualities and sacrifices and to learn more about their soldiers. Many families in Victoria have members of their own circle in this great fighting unit and daily offer prayers for the men's safety. But Army Week will give everyone the opportunity to pay a tribute.

"In every village, town and city across the Dominion streets and stores will be decorated, prominent men and women will address public meetings and every effort will be made to entertain the troops. Victoria has done a magnificent job in looking after the many servicemen who are stationed in this city but we would like to have a special effort next week. We would like to have all homes open to the soldiers.

"We ask that all stores be liberally decorated and hope that all householders will have flags flown from their residences.

"Victoria is now in the front line. The first shells to land on Canadian soil fell at Estevan Point, not far from this city. Large numbers of boys from all parts of Canada are now in the Victoria area and at other parts of Vancouver Island prepared to fight if the occasion should arise. Let us all show that we appreciate what they are doing for us and make Army Week an event which will forever be remembered by them and ourselves."

5-Lb. Chicken Cut To Half Pound

A five-pound chicken has been reduced in weight to a half pound but by the time it is ready for the table can be returned to within 10 per cent of its original weight, the Lower Island Local of the Pacific Coast Poultry Producers' Association was told at a meeting at the Y.M.C.A.

The dehydrating experiments which reduce the weight have been made for exporting purposes to cut shipping space. All eggs exported in future will also be dehydrated.

B.C. 1942-43 quota of eggs will be 80,000 cases, the local was informed by Clem Willingale, president of the Cloverdale branch, who has just returned from Ottawa where he met officials of the Special Products Board.

The delegates to Ottawa, he reported, asked that the price on future contracts for export be such as to make it possible for poultry producers to stay in business. Production costs were reported to the board to help establish the price.

Attempts are being made to fix uniform prices throughout the country between wholesalers and retailers.

A request for a quantity of peat moss for B.C. poultrymen is under consideration.

Dance for Milk Fund

A dance, proceeds of which will go to the Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund, will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel tonight.

Music will be by the R.C.A.F. orchestra, Patricia Bay, which is conducted by Sergeant J. Mielci, former dance band conductor from Toronto. L.A.C. G. B. Douglas will be vocal artist.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Members of Victoria Columbia Lodge No. 1, A.F. & A.M., B.C., are requested to meet at the Masonic Temple, Flagstaff Street, Victoria, B.C., on Saturday, June 27, at 1:45 p.m., for the purpose of attending funeral of our late brother, Stanley Lawrie. Sojourning brethren in good standing are invited to attend.

By order of the Worshipful Master, CHARLES NICKERSON, Secretary.

War Housing Action Monday

Possibility of City Council meetings on successive days to speed action on the Wartime Housing Ltd. project to build homes in the James Bay area for 100 war workers was seen at the City Hall today as the notice was posted for Monday's regular council session.

The order-in-council giving approval to the city's formal request for permission to enter into a contract with the house building firm was received this week. To implement it a by-law is required. Such a by-law cannot be finally passed in one meeting and prospects looked for a second session of the council Tuesday provided the by-law encountered no resistance in its preliminary readings. Any debate on the question would naturally arise during second reading Monday.

Is Your Home Heading For a Breakdown From Overwork?

UPKEEP is an important word right now. It marks the difference between a run-down, shabby home and a home that is both comfortable and charming. UPKEEP is also the difference between a few dollars spent now and then as repairs and improvements are needed . . . and thousands spent for rehabilitation after the damage is done. ## High Exams Over All Schools Out

Greater Victoria's grade school students joined those of other parts of British Columbia today in a farewell to school desks until Sept. 1.

At Victoria High and other secondary schools, those students who were required to write examinations turned in their papers and joined others who had been released earlier for the two months' summer vacation.

In various districts, in the city class, exercises were held during the last few days, as students displayed work to parents and presented small entertainments.

Now the school population puts aside its books, some to go out into the work-a-day world, others to enjoy holidays which, in the majority of cases, will be spent close to home.

Both university entrance and senior matriculation papers were completed today, following earlier tests and promotions by recommendation in cases where students in some grades avoided the last-minute fever of examinations.

Classes will open for the next school year on the first day of September, marking an innovation in the usual procedure of extending holidays until after the Labor Day week-end.

25 Insurance Salesmen Meet in Victoria

Twenty-five members from British Columbia and Washington offices of the Travelers' Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., arrived in Victoria this afternoon for a two-day recreation and business conference which will be held at the Empress Hotel.

A. B. Gorrill, assistant manager of the Seattle office of the company, in an interview, praised Canada's action to initiate a compulsory savings plan. He said it would assist in balking inflation. Mr. Gorrill also said that in the United States a plan was under consideration whereby premiums paid for life insurance would not be taxed with regular incomes. He said the plan had got no further than the discussion stage yet.

The Budget Laid Them Low

Canadian Press

Back to the days of plain living, more evenings at home instead of in theatres or night clubs, less smoking, drinking and traveling, more economies in cooking and sewing, fewer new clothes and games of golf—that was the resolution made by Canadians in key cities today as they devised ways to economize under Finance Minister Lisle's austerity budget.

Faced with a heavy and steeply graduated income tax, involving a compulsory savings feature, and taxes on scores of personal necessities, representative citizens told the Canadian Press how they planned to make both ends meet in the lean, hard days ahead.

"I'm going to wear shoes that formerly I'd have thrown away and instead of having three suits I'll have only 1½," said Dr. H. W. Kirkpatrick of Halifax. But many other Halifaxians still reeled under the shock of the budget proposals and their reaction was summed up by the remark of Dr. T. B. Acker: "Oh, I haven't finished reading about them yet."

Single men in Halifax reacted like their brothers from coast to coast. They were going to cut down on cigarettes, liquor and parties.

At Montreal, Robert Pollock, a businessman, saw a ray of hope, explaining: "Do not try to keep up with the Joneses and let's rejoice that the Joneses will from now on have to keep 'down' with us—the whole thing will make for a happier, saner and healthier world to live in."

MULOCK SAYING
Toronto citizens got an economy lead from 98-year-old Sir William Mulock, retired Chief Justice of Ontario. Sir William is not opening his country home, where he spent his "last 60 happy years" and has discontinued cultivating flowers there. He is closing part of his city home to save heating.

To pare expenses, one Toronto housewife plans to cut down on expensive warfare entertainment—bridges, luncheons and teas—and concentrate on gatherings where such work as knitting is done, minus the lunch.

A Toronto bachelor said he would take out his "girl friends" either on a "Dutch treat" basis or one where they split the bill equally.

Winnipeg housewives interviewed said they would make their own clothing and make over present wearing apparel. They will cut holidays involving travel and serve plainer foods to the family. Single men there aim to attend fewer movies and buy less expensive liquor.

Doctors and lawyers questioned in Winnipeg will dress more economically and use their cars less. Business men said they planned to eliminate holidays requiring long travel.

In Edmonton housewives will cut food bills, recreation costs and seek cheaper living accommodation. Single men will reduce recreation and clothing expenditure. Doctors said they hoped to cut overhead by grouping calls and keeping them to a minimum.

TO DARN OWN SOCKS
In B.C. women plan to do more home cooking, wear cotton stockings, buy cheaper cuts of meat. They don't want to sell the family car but said they would make greater use of street cars. Single men will reduce cigarette consumption, shows, dances. They'll put up their cars, spend holidays at cheap, nearby resorts, mend their own socks and make their suits last longer.

Lawyers interviewed in Vancouver are thinking of moving to cheaper offices and reducing telephone expenditure.

Doctors will try to economize on overhead by urging patients to call on them and by grouping calls. Business men may group and restrict deliveries.

ARMY TRACK MEET ALL DAY SATURDAY

The biggest army track and field day to be held in Victoria will be run off at the sports grounds of Work Point Barracks Saturday, starting at 10 in the morning. It is expected the event will run on into early evening.

Trackmen from all parts of Canada, assembled in different units stationed at and near Victoria, will represent their outfits. Winners in this meet will have earned the right to represent Victoria in the inter-area championships at Vancouver, July 15.

Col. J. Preston, honorary judge-in-chief of the meet, will present prizes when the show is over. Maj. W. S. Dingley will be the starter. Judges for the track events will be Capt. E. Glassford, Capt. F. Milton and Lieut. T. C. Stance.

Two bands of the Victoria Rifles will be present to supply music between events. They will parade the athletes around the grounds at 9.45.

POLICE SHOOT JULY 1 AND 2

Wednesday and Thursday, July 1 and 2, police officers from the whole of the Northwest will shoot for 80 valuable prizes at the annual revolver contest of the Victoria City Police Revolver Club at the Thelus Lake range.

There will be prizes for individual police, teams from the Provincial Police, American police and the City Police, the army, navy and air force, ladies' individual shoots, mayors, aldermen and councillors of B.C., press, banks, civilians, chiefs of police and inspectors of police shoots.

Detective Inspector J. H. Rogers announced today there would be a special entry for members of the Canadian Army Territorial Service. He said he expected from 20 to 25 entries from Washington and Oregon as well as formidable contingents from different districts in British Columbia.

It was announced that the probable team from the city force would comprise Constables Charles Webb, Jack Mason, Sam McKenzie, Alex. Briggs and Detective John Lund.

The prizes will be presented at the wind-up dance, Thursday night, in the police station ballroom, by Mayor Andrew McGavin.

ANNA NEAGLE IN VICTORIA ROLE
When Miss Anna Neagle is seen here in her famous Queen Victoria role, one of the highlights of "Celebrity Parade," which will have a one-night presentation at the Royal Victoria Theatre July 3 in aid of the Air Cadet League of Canada, she will be wearing a false but expensive example of the plastic surgeon's art and just another donation to a great stage production whose cast are giving their services free in this three weeks' patriotic tour of benefit performances across Canada.

For her unforgettable role of Queen Victoria, Miss Neagle has hitherto found by trial and error that it takes just four and a half hours in make-up time to transform a girl in her 20's to an old and dignified lady who has passed the 70-year mark. For the Canadian tour, in which the cast of personalities of stage, screen and radio are continuously on and off the stage throughout the lengthy performance, Miss Neagle just didn't have the time to build up her nose; in fact, she has to make the change in 15 minutes.

She couldn't afford the time to go to Hollywood and have a cast made of her nose, so she appealed to a famous plastic surgeon in New York, sending photographs of the Queen and instructions as to how the false nose should look on completion. Several days later, Miss Neagle was in New York and dropped around to pick up the nose. She was also presented with a bill for a very respectable figure. Curious as to the use of the nose, the plastic surgeon asked its purpose. Miss Neagle said that she was shortly embarking on a trans-Canada tour in aid of the Air Marshal Bishop Fund and needed the gadget for her re-enacting of the Queen Victoria role. The surgeon thereupon politely reached for the bill and tore it up. Said he, "That's my contribution to the tour. That Bishop is a great man and we knew it here long before we ever saw 'Captains of the Clouds.'"

YORK THEATRE
Following close upon her compelling portrayal of the stern ballet mistress who disciplined Vivien Leigh in "Waterloo Bridge," the veteran character actress Maria Ouspenskaya, is given the opportunity for another outstanding characterization as James Stewart's mother in "The Mortal Storm," filmization of the powerful Phyllis Bottome novel of a family divided by political dissensions, currently showing at the York Theatre.

Born in Moscow, Mme. Ouspenskaya became a member of the Moscow Art Theatre and later was associated with Richard Boleslawski, director of the theatre. Mme. Ouspenskaya accompanied Boleslawski and the players when they came to this continent.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Eros Volusia, the rave of Rio de Janeiro, and Brazil's newest dancing bombshell, reveals her dances in the new Abbott and Costello musical, "Rio Rita," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Twelve dancers appear with her in one number which required two weeks for rehearsal.

ATLAS THEATRE

RIO THEATRE
The old-time medicine show traveling by wagon, a part of theatrical history long since past, came to life with comical vividness in Hollywood for the production of "The Wild Man of Borneo," with Frank Morgan as a medicine-show faker who invades gay Broadway. The picture, now at the Rio Theatre, is based on the stage hit by Marc Connelly and Herman Mankiewicz.

A complete old-time medicine wagon was located by research experts in a lively stable, where it had remained since the show went broke years ago, and moved to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's. From it Morgan and Andrew Tombes hawk "electric belts" in a comical episode in the picture.

Don't be the missing man.

"You barnacle-crusted, leather-necked son of a double-crossing top-kick!"
"Why, you brass-polishin' dog robber—how long has it been?"
This subtle repartee, followed by a sparkling of "sez you—sez me" and "oh, yeah—oh, yeah" marked the memorable reunion scene of the two top stars in "Call Out the Marines," RKO Radio's new service comedy now at the Dominion Theatre.

No need to say that the boys giving out with the above dialogue were Victor McLaglan and Edmund Lowe, the hard-boiled devil dogs of "What Price Glory," "The Cockeyed World," and other hit.

Producer Howard Benedict has surrounded the boys with a splendid cast. Binnie Barnes is the blonde they fight over, while Dorothy Lovett, Corinne Mura and Martha Mears add their charms to the free-for-all. Paul Kelly and Robert Smith portray military intelligence operatives, while Franklin Pangborn enacts a comedy role.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES
That the classification, "comedy-drama" is no contradiction in terms, but a very logical description, is thoroughly realized in the Republic mystery, "Mr. District Attorney in the Carter Case," which is currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres screen. For although the film offers a full share of suspense to thrill-loving fans, so much fun and frolic are smoothly woven into the plot's fabric that even the most comedy-minded will be more than satisfied.

On the story side, "Mr. District Attorney in the Carter Case," is concerned with the efforts of a newspaper-woman, Terry Parker, to prove that her sweetheart, assistant district attorney F. Cadwallader Jones, has convicted the wrong man. In a recent murder trial. At first her efforts are futile, but a second killing explosion Jones' neatly-handled prosecution, and in a whirlwind turn of events leads to the apprehension of the real murderer.

CADET THEATRE
Those who have heard of pink elephants will actually get a chance to see them in one laugh-happy sequence of Walt Disney's RKO Radio release, "Dumbo," now at the Cadet Theatre.

The title character, a lovable little elephant, and his pal, who is a rough-tough little circus mouse, see an amazing pink elephant extravaganza after they unwittingly imbibe too much champagne.

No need to say that the boys giving out with the above dialogue were Victor McLaglan and Edmund Lowe, the hard-boiled devil dogs of "What Price Glory," "The Cockeyed World," and other hit.

Producer Howard Benedict has surrounded the boys with a splendid cast. Binnie Barnes is the blonde they fight over, while Dorothy Lovett, Corinne Mura and Martha Mears add their charms to the free-for-all. Paul Kelly and Robert Smith portray military intelligence operatives, while Franklin Pangborn enacts a comedy role.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES
That the classification, "comedy-drama" is no contradiction in terms, but a very logical description, is thoroughly realized in the Republic mystery, "Mr. District Attorney in the Carter Case," which is currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres screen. For although the film offers a full share of suspense to thrill-loving fans, so much fun and frolic are smoothly woven into the plot's fabric that even the most comedy-minded will be more than satisfied.

On the story side, "Mr. District Attorney in the Carter Case," is concerned with the efforts of a newspaper-woman, Terry Parker, to prove that her sweetheart, assistant district attorney F. Cadwallader Jones, has convicted the wrong man. In a recent murder trial. At first her efforts are futile, but a second killing explosion Jones' neatly-handled prosecution, and in a whirlwind turn of events leads to the apprehension of the real murderer.

RIO THEATRE
The old-time medicine show traveling by wagon, a part of theatrical history long since past, came to life with comical vividness in Hollywood for the production of "The Wild Man of Borneo," with Frank Morgan as a medicine-show faker who invades gay Broadway. The picture, now at the Rio Theatre, is based on the stage hit by Marc Connelly and Herman Mankiewicz.

A complete old-time medicine wagon was located by research experts in a lively stable, where it had remained since the show went broke years ago, and moved to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's. From it Morgan and Andrew Tombes hawk "electric belts" in a comical episode in the picture.

Dorothy Dix:

It Is Risky to Take On A Ready-made Family

Dear Dorothy Dix:—I am a bachelor, 43 years old, and contemplate marrying a widow who has a 7-year-old daughter; the widow's mother lives with her. I feel that the situation is a delicate one and if I handle it right we may all be very happy together, but if I handle it poorly I will surely wish that I were a bachelor again. How can I prepare myself for the very important job I am thinking of undertaking?—L.S.D.

Answer: To make any marriage a success requires the wisdom of a sage and the patience and forbearance of a saint, but to marry a widow who has a "dear departed" as a yard stick to measure you against, and the further complications of a child of whom you may be jealous, and a mother-in-law who probably is bossy, you will indeed need to possess the more outstanding characteristics of Solomon and Job and Cordell Hull.

So, in order to prepare yourself for the task you are about to undertake, first of all, divest yourself of all your bachelor habits and perquisites. Up to now you have been the central figure in your little universe. You have been able to come and go as you please. Eat where you liked. Stay in or step out as you fancied. Spend all your money on yourself. Marry the widow and her child and mother—for without intending it you will be committing trigamy—and all this will be changed.

In all likelihood you will have to listen to what your predecessor thought on every subject and have his post-mortem perfections thrown up to you. Mamma and the little girl will be camped on the back seat of the car and you will spend much of your time chauffeuring Babykins to school and grandma to prayer meeting. And you won't be allowed to smoke in the house if Mamma doesn't like tobacco, or to turn on the radio after the baby has gone to sleep. Family spats will have added pep by three being in the scrimmage instead of two.

CONSULT A MARRIED MAN

Before taking on a ready-made family let old Tom or seedy Bill spend a quiet evening with you, going over his household bills, so you can get sort of hardened to the knowledge of what it costs to support a family. Every man who gets married should go through this training process, but it is particularly advisable in the case of a bold adventurer who is undertaking the support of three instead of one. Adenoids, having teeth straightened, summer camps, dancing lessons and music lessons, rheumatism cures don't come as such a shock if you have gotten used to them by degrees.

Then, of course, it would be a good thing for you to take a few lessons in diplomacy so as to learn how to stroke your wife's fur the right way and keep from riling her, and to include in your daily dozen telling her how much more beautiful she gets every day and that you like 'em a little plump instead of a string-bean figure. And if you are accustomed to living in a club with a high-priced chef, work down to home cooking by eating at beaneries for a few weeks before you enter the holy estate.

There are other things, but these few hints should make the transition from bachelorhood to domesticity comparatively painless and easy.

PHILANDERING WOMEN SHOULD'NT MARRY

Dear Miss Dix:—I am 20 years old and about to enter my third marriage. I am madly in love with this man, as I was with the other two, but some of my friends say that I know nothing about real love and should not think of marriage any more. Do you think they are right? G.G.

Answer: Your trouble probably is that you haven't grown up. You are still adolescent, with your mind in a state of flux and your tastes unformed, and you are crazy about a man one day and think you can't live without him and tired of him the next day, and you can't get the divorce court quick enough to get rid of him.

Some women are like that as long as they live. They are always unstable in their affections, always swapping husbands and never liking the new one any better than they did the old, and never getting real happiness out of life because they are always emotionally upset and always in some mess of a scandal. Worst of all, these women so often ruin the lives of fine men.

I would certainly advise you to consider a long time, at least a year, before you marry again, no matter how much you think you love this new man. Test yourself and see whether what you feel for him is the genuine love that endures, or just a physical attraction.

Philandering women as well as philandering men should never marry. They should have that much heart.

Innocent Persons Suffered in 'Trials by Combat'

A duel is a combat between two persons with deadly weapons. Usually there are "seconds" who stand nearby to witness the fight and to see that there is fair play. In the more civilized countries it is against the law to fight a duel. If one of the persons fighting is killed, his foe may be tried for murder.

In past times, however, it was common for men to fight duels. Great numbers have died in this way, from bullets or from the blows of swords.

There was a time when even the courts of law allowed duels to go on. In the old English law, a man accused of crime could challenge his accuser to a fight. The custom was known as "wager of battle" or "trial by combat." A man charged with murder or treason threw down his glove, and the man who accused him was expected to pick it up. If the glove was not picked up, the charge of murder was dropped.

Usually the accuser was ready to pick up the glove. Then there followed a fierce fight with swords or other weapons. If neither was killed, the one who suffered less from wounds was judged to have the right side of the case. If a man accused of murder got the better of the fight he was set free.

When we use our powers of reason, we see that the "trial by combat" was foolish. An innocent person might not be skillful with the sword, and might fall victim to the person in the wrong. Citizens of London obtained a charter, and freed themselves from having to go through trials by combat. Other Englishmen also won the right to have law cases judged in a better way.

Yet the duel kept a place in many countries until modern times. Thousands of men were killed or wounded when they went out to "fight for their honor."

When Henry IV was king of France, duels were common among "French gentlemen." It is said that 4,000 met their death in this way while he was on the throne. This led to new laws in France against the custom. Some duels to the death were fought on this continent, in pioneer days and later. The best-known of these took place in the United States when Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr fought each other. Burr's pistol shot took Hamilton's life.

CORDOVA BAY UNIT

A successful strawberry tea and sale of home cooking was held by the local Red Cross unit in the attractive grounds of the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Dyer, over $40 being realized from the afternoon's entertainment. Mrs. Dyer was assisted in preparing tea by Mesdames Bramhall, Noel Thomas, K. Genn, and F. S. Dyer. The tea guests were served by Mrs. Ellis Jones, Misses Grace Gillan, Pauline Thornber, Ethel Thomas, and Edna McRoberts. Mrs. Allen read the cups. Cor sage bouquets, made by Mrs. Ian Jack, were sold during the afternoon. Mrs. W. Emery, ably assisted by Mrs. J. Kingsmill and Mrs. William F. Lloyd, were in charge of the home-cooking table. Among the guests were Mrs. Borden, member of the Red Cross executive, and Mrs. Ralph Thistle of the headquarters staff.
